GERMANS FIGHT SAVAGELY BEFORE SIEGFRIED LINE

Hitler's Roofless
Reich Groans Under
Increased Pressure

Interpretation By
Kirke L. Simpson
(Wide World War Analyst)

The last outposts of Hitler's roofless Reich are groaning under mounting Allied-Russian pressure east, west and south. There is every indication that long before the first blows of consequence fly anywhere in Europe, the decisive break will come somewhere and the United Nations march to Berlin will begin. Trace out on any European map the extent of the front dwindling man manpower with waning war aims and an all but impotent air force are trying to hold. The fact that the strain is too clear to be used. That front cannot be more than thinly manned anywhere. That the genius of the Russian-Allied master plan of cumulative, all-round attack matched at Tehran and only now coming into full play. It was the error in the situation toward mid-September that prompted War Secretary Stimson to indicate his own belief and that of Allied joint military chiefs that the end is almost in sight.

He said that effective forces available to the enemy "seem insufficient" to task of prolonged defense. "It was to arrive at just that condition that the Russian-Allied military chiefs were framed, the timing of the assault on all fronts worked out to batter comrades to the east, and south stumble backward under Allied and Russian blows of daily mounting scope and power. Nazi forces must stand reeling side along the northern coast line

BULGARIA GETS NEW GOVERNMENT

Parliament Dissolved And Political Police Group Disbanded

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Bulgarian governments again today as Soviet armies swept unopposed through the country which once was a backdoor to Hitler's European front.

Sofia radio announced that Premier Kimon Georgiev had been over the premiership, succeeding Vasil Muraviev, and had formed a new government.

One of the last acts of the Muraviev government was to ask Moscow for an armistice and proclaim war on Germany, at the same time ordering Bulgarians to welcome Russian troops.

It remains to be seen, however, whether the Georgiev regime will be satisfactory to Moscow which was outraged by the Bulgarian declaration of war upon Germany to accept Hitler's plea for an armistice.

Before the latest cabinet switch the government had dissolved parliament on the ground it was unworthy to represent the people, disbanded the gendarmerie which was created months ago to suppress popular protest, proclaimed amnesty for political prisoners and announced Bulgarian partisans henceforth would be

MARSHAL PETAIN'S LAWS ABOLISHED

PARIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—As this city slowly but steadily comes back to normal, the De Gaulle regime formalized the French people that "French state" of Marshal Petain and all its major laws had been abolished and that France remained a republic.

In law the republic never ceased to exist," it said in a statement giving the widest publicity to the text of an ordinance adopted in Algiers last month after reestablishing legality of the republic.

This ordinance declared all Vichy laws, routine enactments, invalid, including constitutional alterations, anti-Semitic measures and acts raising labor corps for the Germans. The laws will remain in effect pending new legislation.

Publication of the ordinance today closed the third meeting of the constituent assembly, at which General De Gaulle told members that despite victory of the past week and hard efforts will be necessary to reach final victory.

Meanwhile the Paris subway system which withered away to no service at all during the last months of German occupation, was prepared for resumption of main line service today.

The fuel shortage continues stringently so that even the most luxurious hotels do not have hot water and electricity for only a half-hour at 10 p. m., and gas for an hour dinner time.

The meat ration now is a half-pound a week, plus a tenth of a pound of cheese, a half-pound of jam and three and a half pounds of bread.

Practically all restaurants remained closed, and the only way to eat comfortably is to patronize the black market.

Russia Ends War With Bulgaria

TROOPS OCCUPY
PORT OF BURGAS

Soviet Forces Are Only 30 Miles From Turkish Frontier

WORLD'S SHORTEST WARS

By W. W. Hercher

LONDON, Sunday, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Russian forces sweeping 100 miles into Bulgaria yesterday occupied the Black sea port of Burgas, only 30 miles from the Turkish frontier, as Moscow announced the end of its short-lived war with Bulgaria.

Marines of the Black sea fleet under Adm. E. S. Oktyabrsky, Sevastopol base, aided in the seizure of Burgas 22 miles south of Bulgaria's other main seaport, Varna, taken Friday.

In one of the shortest wars in history Soviet troops were ordered to cease military operations against Bulgaria effective at 10 p. m. (3 p. m. eastern war time) last night, "in view of the fact the Bulgarian government has severed relations with Germany," declared war on Germany, and asked the Soviet government for an armistice," said the broadcast Moscow statement.

The occupation of Burgas put the Russians under Gen. Fedor I. Tolbukhin, Third Ukrainian Army commander, only 80 miles from Greece in the swift drive to annihilate or capture 250,000 Germans estimated to be cut off in that country and Yugoslavia.

The Bulgarians are estimated to have 20 good divisions which they can hurl into the battle against their former comrades-in-arms, the Nazis. And with the seizure of Burgas the Russians have another valuable port with which to quicken the conquest of the Balkans.

Berlin announced that the Red army had begun a new offensive in southern Poland aimed at Krakow, last big bastion guarding the invasion path into German Silesia, and the Russians announced rapid gains in northeastern and central Romania in the drive on Hungary, last big Axis satellite nation.

BIG ITALIAN SHIP RIPPED BY ROCKETS

ROME, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Struck by more than 120 R. A. F. rockets, the 50,000-ton liner Rex was burning in the northern Adriatic off Trieste today after fierce attacks by rocket-firing Beaufighters.

Reconnaissance pilots said the one-time queen of the Italian merchant fleet and Atlantic speed record holder was lying motionless with a 60-degree list to port as the result of hits below the waterline. Pilot said flames were roaring from all points of the ship.

An air force report said the Germans were believed to be preparing to sink the ship to block the Trieste harbor.

PRIMARY WILL BE HELD HERE

Ouachita Voters To Pass On Candidates For Senate, Supreme Court

Ouachita parish together with all other parishes of the state, will conduct a Democratic primary election on Tuesday, September 12. Polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m., and the regular voting places will be utilized. In this parish, with the Congressional nomination already settled, the incumbent, Charles E. McKenzie, being unopposed, the interest will center around the race for United States Senator, and in the selection of a state supreme court justice to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Judge Fred Odum.

Candidates for the United States Senatorship are the incumbent, Sen. John H. Overton; E. A. Stephens, of New Orleans; Charles Gerth of New Orleans and Griffin Hawkins, of Lake Charles.

Candidates for state supreme court justice from the Fourth Louisiana district are Judge Frank Hawthorne, Judge Frank Voelker, and Judge Carey Ellis.

Senator Overton decided to enter the race for re-election only after considerable consideration. He bases his platform on his past record of performance and the promise that he will, if re-elected, carry on in similar manner. As chairman on the Senate sub-committee on navy department appropriations, chairman of the floor committee and chairman of the Senate, his public efforts are declared to have been outstanding.

Mr. Stephens is a New Orleans businessman and owner of a radio station in that city. He is former president of the board of commissioners of the port of New Orleans. He has in his campaign, urged a well rounded program of employment and equal opportunity for all, in order to promote post-war prosperity.

Mr. Gerth is an auctioneer, while Mr. Hawkins is a prominent businessman in Lake Charles.

In the race for supreme court justice.

GANDHI AND JINNAH OPEN DISCUSSIONS

BOMBAY, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi and Mahomed Ali Jinnah seeking to solve political difference between the Hindus and Moslems, began discussions today which may pave the way for India's independence.

This problem is among the internal difficulties which the British government holds is a stumbling block to Indian independence, and it was generally felt that if the talks fail it will be virtually impossible to persuade the Americans or any other people that the British government is wrong in its viewpoint.

Gandhi and Jinnah will investigate the possibilities of agreement on the partition of India into two autonomous sovereign states—Hindustan, controlled by the Hindus, and Pakistan, under the Moslems.

It was the first meeting of the two since the start of the war. The meeting had been arranged for an earlier date but was postponed because Jinnah became ill.

BRICKER SAYS NATION MUST NOT GIVE UP OWN FREEDOM WHILE FIGHTING TYRANNY

Deplores New Deal Attempts To 'Regulate People's Lives'

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker opened his Republican vice-presidential speaking campaign here tonight by declaring the issue of 1944 is: "Shall the United States continue to be a republic?"

"It is for us, this year, to prove again," he said in a prepared speech released by the governor's office in Columbus, Ohio, "that representative government can wage war and remain free—that to defeat tyranny in the world we need not sacrifice our constitutional rights and traditional freedom—and that America possesses a reservoir of fresh leadership to which we can safely turn, even in the heat of conflict, and upon which it must rely to keep us a virile nation."

"The most reactionary system of government is that in which the individual lives and moves and has his being only by sufferance of the government," Bricker asserted. "From its inception, the New Deal has been moving in that direction. It believes that you, the people, are not competent to determine your own needs and that you are unable to govern yourselves. It reasons, therefore, that the government must order every act of your personal lives, every day, from morning until night and from the cradle to the grave."

Bricker heretofore had not formally accepted the vice-presidential nomination but said his address to the Indiana Republican Editorial Association would constitute his acceptance.

Touching upon this point in opening his campaign.

CONGRESSMEN ARE TORN BY 2 URGES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Congressmen, homesick for the hustings in this campaign year, were torn today between the urge to take a recess and the fear of quitting with post-war work undone.

"Some of us are afraid not to go home to talk to the voters," one senator put it, "and we are equally afraid the voters won't listen if we leave now."

Principal obstacles to a recess until after the November election are two bills, one setting up an Office of War Mobilization and Reconstruction, the other providing machinery for the disposal of upwards of $100,000,000,000 worth of war-accumulated surplus property and materials.

Passed by both houses in widely-different forms, they have been for days in joint conference committees where snail-like progress towards compromises threatens to hold up final agreements another week or ten days.

Some legislators think Congress shouldn't quit at all in view of the possibility of an early defeat of Germany, but that group, apparently feeling fences are better mended by long-distance, does not loom large.

The House is far short of a bare quorum of its membership now, since all of its members have to seek reelection, while the Senate can boast of little more than a majority of its 96 members.

BENITO MUSSOLINI CALLS FOR PRIEST

LUGANO, Switzerland, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini, gaunt and ravaged by illness, is reliably reported to have called for a priest recently to hear his confession.

The priest is reported to have visited the former duke of the Italian empire at his home on Lake Garda.

Mussolini's health is said to have declined to such an extent that he is refusing further medical attention as useless and resorting to hypodermic injections whenever it is necessary for him to meet people.

CONFIRMS OF KLUGE DEATH
LONDON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A captured German general has confirmed reports that Field Marshal Gueunther von Kluge is dead, and that Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel has been wounded seriously. A Reuters report from the British Second army front said tonight.

SCHOUTEN ISLAND CONQUEST ENDED

Americans Continue Unopposed Neutralization Of Jap Bases

THUNDEROUS RAIDS MADE UPON HALMAHERA ISLAND

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Continued unopposed aerial neutralization of Japanese positions from the Moluccas to the Philippines and a new amphibious landing which completed Allied conquest of the Schouten Islands, off Dutch New Guinea, were reported by headquarters today.

Thunderous raids on Halmahera Island, southern guardian of the Philippines, and the Japanese shipping and aerial center on Dutch Celebes were included in the reported air strikes. Other targets included blasted Palau, hit by patrols; Ceram and Timor.

Under air and naval cover, amphibious Allied units landed Thursday on Soepiori Island, adjacent to American-held Biak in Geelvink bay. There was no Japanese opposition, and it was considered unlikely that more than a handful of enemy stragglers were on the island.

Soepiori lies westward of Biak from which it is separated by a narrow channel. Biak, the largest of the Schouten group, was invaded late last May. It is approximately 120 miles east of the by-passed Japanese base at Manokwari.

A navy B-24 bomber sank or badly damaged a coastal vessel and two small freighters at Davao Thursday. Liberators cascaded 150 tons of bombs on Manado, northern Celebes. Wednesday night setting fire to oil dumps and causing widespread damage.

(Tokyo broadcasts said 60 allied planes participated in a raid Wednesday on Manado.)

A strong force of Liberators, Mitchells and Lightning fighter planes hit airbases and gun positions on Halmahera Thursday. There was no aerial opposition.

(This continuation of neutralization attempts against Halmahera, southern guardian of the Philippines, also was reported by Tokyo which said 30 planes participated.)

4 SEE VICTORY IN SENATE RACE

All Candidates Predict First Or Second Place For Selves

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Victory statements were issued today by each of the four candidates for the United States Senate in next Tuesday's Democratic primary in Louisiana, while some of the incumbents in six House contests were engaged in sharp skirmishing for renomination against a field of challengers.

As the Senate race drew toward a close, Senator John H. Overton, incumbent, predicted his renomination in the first primary "by a majority of not less than two to one against the field."

E. A. Stephens, New Orleans automobile and radio executive, asserted he did "not believe that it will be necessary to have a second primary" and predicted his own victory in Tuesday's balloting.

Griffin T. Hawkins, district attorney at Lake Charles, claimed that he would lead all of his opponents in the first primary.

Charles S. Gerth, New Orleans business man, picked the first primary finish in the 1, 2, 3, 4, order as "Overton, Gerth, Hawkins, Stevens," and declared he believed that "a second primary is inevitable."

The statements were made by the campaign managers to the Associated Press. Headquarters of each candidate predicted a light vote due to the centering of public attention largely upon the war. Some predicted that the statewide vote might not reach 300,000, in comparison with more than 500,000 votes cast in the first gubernatorial primary of 1944.

Among the senatorial campaign discussions have been such subjects as the peace plan and its enforcement after the war, post-war economy, flood control, aid to war veterans, the

2 ELECTOR SETS IN TEXAS URGED

Predicts Committee Will Adopt Plan To Let People Decide

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Democratic party's leadership in Texas today cautiously put out feelers directed toward harmonizing the September 12 state convention here.

Chairman George A. Butler of Houston said in an interview he believed the executive committee would recommend, almost unanimously, adoption of Gov. Coke R. Stevenson's plan to name two sets of presidential electors for the general election ballot and thereby let the people decide.

2 SUPERFORTRESS BASES ATTACKED

A U. S. SUPERFORTRESS BASE IN WESTERN CHINA, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A small number of Japanese planes attacked two B-29 Superfortress bases last night following yesterday's record-breaking Superfortress raid on Anshan, Manchuria, but the enemy failed even to hit the runways.

This first Japanese counter-thrust at the jumping-off places of the Superfortresses was an impressive fizzle. The medium bombers attacked in four waves during two hours, but the most spectacular damage they did was to blast a large crater in a cabbage field. Chinese authorities said the bombs apparently were jettisoned by Japanese bombers who were bewildered by the soupy weather.

The Superfortresses which attacked Anshan, in the greatest force yet employed, overcame the Manchurian industrial center's air defenses, including new twin-engine Japanese fighters. Seven Japanese interceptors were destroyed, and 11 were damaged in the sporadic Japanese efforts to beat off the raiders.

(A communique issued in Washington by the 20th air force said one Superfortress was missing and presumed lost and that numerous bombs were made in the target area.)

The Japanese radio said there was a follow-up raid Saturday on Anshan by about ten American planes and that of more than 100 which participated in Friday's raid at least six were damaged. There was no confirmation on any of these enemy reports.

Heavy Artillery Fire Hits Troops

American First Army Pounding Down Last 18 Miles To German Border; British Fight Fresh Enemy Reserves

By Howard Cowan
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Picked troops of the U. S. Third army fought in a storm of artillery fire tonight to hold a bridgehead on the Moselle south of the French city of Metz as the Germans advanced from their menaced Siegfried line to give battle to three Allied armies closing for the showdown struggle for the Reich.

In northern Belgium the British Second army hammered out a second crossing of the Albert canal and fought against fresh German reserves toward the weakest link in the Siegfried line north of Aachen.

The American First army was pounding down the last 18 miles to the German border from the Belgian citadel of Liege and probably was within heavy artillery range of the line's outlying positions although its movements were enveloped in secrecy. The Germans said they had thrown in fresh troops here too.

ALLIED TROOPS AIM AT BELFORT

Forces In Southern France Only 25 Miles From That City

ROME, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Two Allied columns coming up from southern France struck today to within 25 miles of the sentinel city of Belfort, whose fortifications bar the way through a mountain gap into the plains before Germany's frontier on the Rhine, 30 miles east of the fortress.

The Germans, who fought hard in Besancon, broke and ran under quarters said the Doughboys now had covered at least half of the 47 miles from Besancon to Belfort.

It was likely that patrols, moving swiftly after resistance was crushed in Besancon's streets, had advanced even nearer to Belfort.

French troops fighting up through the Jura mountains seized the towns of Pierre-Fontaine and Maiche, the latter 25 miles south of Belfort.

These twin drives seemed to be out-racing German forces trying to hold open the roads branching out from Dijon, 47 miles west of Besancon.

The Germans were offering stiff resistance to the French moving up along a 40-mile front to within 23 miles of Dijon at one point. But if they let the Americans reach Belfort back to the Fatherland, because they must take a longer northerly route toward the city than the U. S. Third Army striking toward the Rhine and by ambushed French patriots.

The Germans suffered a great industrial blow in this fighting, for the French overran a rich steel and coal region lying about 45 miles south of Dijon. The Schneider metallurgical works, with a capacity of 30,000 tons of steel annually, is in the area.

In their advance the French swept up Besancon, 23 miles south of Dijon, after two days of severe fighting, and other forces pushed up to Autun, 43 miles southwest of Dijon.

The American advance northeast—

GERMANS BATTLE TO HOLD RIMININ

ROME, Sept. 9.—(AP)—In seeking to prevent an Allied breakthrough into the Po valley and a possible envelopment of the whole Gothic line, the Germans fought savagely today to hold the gateway city of Rimini against British Eighth army forces.

A communique from Gen. Harold Alexander's headquarters said that Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, making probably his last stand in Italy, had thrown his infantry and armored units into a series of heavy counterattacks in the Adriatic sector yesterday, but that the veteran Eighth army had beaten them off with no substantial change in position. Casualties were heavy on both sides.

Fierce fighting raged from the Adriatic coast six and a half miles inland to Croce, nine miles southwest of Rimini. British troops held Croce after prolonged see-saw fighting, the communique said.

Canadians moving along the coast fought to the banks of the Marano river within four miles of Rimini, under the protection of a fierce mortar and artillery barrage.

Allied troops moving against stubborn German rear guards protecting the Nazi withdrawal into the Gothic line positions in the northern Apennines seized 3,000-foot Mount Morello, eight miles north of Florence.

American on the Fifth army front continued to move forward along their entire sector. Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark told his troops in a message on the first anniversary of the Salerno landing that "the final blows are still ahead and your Fifth army will soon deliver one from which the enemy will not recover."

TITO'S PARTISANS PUSH INTO ZAJECAR

LONDON, Sunday, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Marshal Tito's partisan armies, fighting toward the Danube, stormed into the river and highway town of Zajecar in eastern Serbia yesterday in a drive carried within six miles of the Bulgarian border, the free Yugoslav radio announced today.

A special broadcast communique said Tito's forces now were within 30 miles of the Danube.

Zajecar, the town on the Turnok river which Tito's partisans took, is approximately 50 miles south of Turnu Severin, the Romanian frontier city where the Russian army this week first reached the Yugoslav border.

Zajecar was defended by 4,000 Germans, "Mihailovic Chetniks," and Nedics (puppet troops), the communique said, adding that more than 1,000 of these were captured and that hundreds lay dead in the streets.

Villagers and miners in the region broke out flags and threw flowers at the 14th Serbian corps after its conquest, the communique said.

"Our units without rest maintain their advance toward the Danube," the war bulletin proclaimed.

from the north Cape of Norway to the Sheldt estuary in Belgium. They are pinned to their defense stations uncertain what new avalanche of Allied power may sweep down upon them in Scandinavia to bring them into action.

For all practical purposes those German troops are as much out of action for any other purpose as if penned in Allied war prisoner cages. They are as unavailable for reinforcement of buckling defensive fronts elsewhere as the German dead of the war littering a thousand European battlefields in a useless human sacrifice to Hitler's shattered dream of world conquest.

At this September week-end, there was ominous evidence for the foe that for all his bitter retreats in the west, the east and the south in hope of "stabilizing" shorter defense fronts, his last barriers beyond German frontiers on all three fronts were about to be caved in. By German admission the front was whittled down now in the west to run from the Sheldt estuary along the Meuse and the Moselle and the Rhine to the Swiss border.

ARTILLERY

24 hours German strategists had decided to make the stand before the 400-mile belt of pill boxes and forts guarding the Reich's frontier.

More than 1,000 United States heavy bombers for the second straight day clustered rail and industrial targets in the Ruhr and Rhine valleys, while deadly Black Widow American night fighters pounced on troop columns trying to move east across the Rhine under cover of darkness.

The big German counterattack against Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's north flank rolled out of Luxembourg through the enemy stronghold of Thionville and apparently tried to come behind the Third army fighting before Metz and its bridgeheads across the Moselle river to the south.

Fighting became wild and so confused that even generals were firing point blank at the enemy, but when the last shots died away the forests were strewn with wounded and the hulks of 30 tanks of the force of 40 which paced the attack.

More than 700 prisoners were taken within a few hours.

The United States Seventh army from the south was threatening to break through to the Rhine, closing to within 25 miles of the Belfort gap from both the south and the southwest, and threatening to herd strong German forces west of them into the path of Patton's army.

Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey's British Second army won its second crossing of the Albert canal where it cuts southeastward two miles south of the town of Geel, 24 miles east of Antwerp. This bridgehead is 12 miles northwest of the original crossing at Boerding.

The Germans gambled with strong reserve forces on this front because it screens the approaches to the weakest link in the entire Siegfried line—the hastily-built 70 miles of bunkers and pill boxes from Aachen northward to Kleve.

Aachen, the gateway city to Germany along the historic paths of European conquest, was the path of the American First army charging up from the fallen Belgian fortress city of Liege.

While this front was covered by a security news blackout, the doughboys were reported Friday at Romsee, a village three miles east of Liege, 18 miles from the border, and 20 miles from Aachen.

Since German fortifications extend well in front of Aachen, it was believed likely the Americans were no more than 15 miles from the Siegfried line's outposts.

To the south the doughboys struck deeper into the Ardennes forest toward Luxembourg, but there has been no news from them since they turned up 25 miles from the little Duchy's frontier.

British, Canadians and Poles squeezed the enemy in the channel ports of Boulogne, Calais and Dunkerque, France, and Zeebrugge, Belgium, were hindered by extensive enemy flooding. Allied bombers kept up the ceaseless battering of the big ports of Le Havre and Brest. Flots returning from Brest said the whole city seemed to be afire.

BYRNES PLANS TO QUIT AS DIRECTOR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—James F. Byrnes intends to step down as war mobilization director once congress completes action on demobilization legislation, now under study by House and Senate conferees, an associate said tonight.

The bill, which may be adopted within two weeks, creates a new Office of War Mobilization and Reconstruction, supplementing the office Byrnes now heads by executive order.

Byrnes told a congressional committee last June that he had left the supreme court bench to take over a war job and that he had no desire for a postwar position. He estimated at the time that the new post to be created by Congress would require a director to stay on with the government for a year or 18 months after the war is ended.

An associate said that Byrnes had not indicated any change in his plans.

The word "hubbub" is a modern translation of a 16th century Irish battle cry described as "ooboooboo."

farmer and small businessman, and other topics of vital interest to Louisiana. Similar issues, including post-war conversion, have been discussed in the congressional campaigns along with a review of the official records of incumbents.

Overton based his campaign largely on his record of flood control and military preparedness measures he has sponsored, which accomplishments have been criticized by Stephens. Candidates generally have taken a stand to "uphold white supremacy" and some have asked for a halt on what they termed, "New Deal bureaucracy."

Although the campaigns have been mostly of the independent hue, Overton goes to the polls endorsed by the New Orleans Old Regular organization, and Stephens is claiming supporters from the ranks of organized labor and from the "administration organization" of Governor Davis, whom Stephens says he helped to elect.

Davis said in an interview in Memphis, where he was attending a gas pipeline hearing, that he was not taking any part in the senatorial primary.

Hawkins and Gerth are out and out independents.

The hottest congressional contest centered in the Sixth district where Rep. James H. Morrison, strawberry farmer organizer and twice candidate for governor, is seeking renomination in a six-man race.

East Baton Rouge parish, home of three of Morrison's opponents, with its estimated 30,000 registered votes, more than double the registration of Morrison's home parish of Tangipahoa, might hold the balance of strength in that otherwise less populous district, political observers pointed out.

There are four candidates in Rep. F. Edward Hebert's first district; four in the Second district of Rep. Paul H. Maloney; five in the Third district, one of them former Congressman Robert L. Mouton, where former Rep. James Deming is seeking to regain his seat after resigning to enter the army; and two-man races in the Fourth and Seventh districts where Representatives Overton Brooks and Henry D. Lacade Jr., are seeking new terms respectively.

Rep. Charles E. McKenzie of the Fifth district and Rep. A. Leonard Allen of the Eighth are unopposed.

In addition the voters are to nominate a supreme court justice from the Fourth district, northeast Louisiana; a public service commissioner from the Second district, in south Louisiana; and state board of education members from the Sixth and Seventh congressional districts.

BRICKER SAYS

ing, the Ohioan took cognizant of the fact his party "has honored" with the nomination for vice-president, said "I hereby dedicate my to our party and our country in a campaign to public service the year ahead" and added:

"I am profoundly happy to make to victory in this campaign with candidate who can win, who will win, our next president—Thomas Dewey."

He said that in contrast to the New Deal program, the Republican proposed to reestablish liberty at home, and added:

"Our goal also is to prevent hardship and poverty in America—to provide opportunity and security—and promote social betterment. Such goal can be solidly achieved only if we give full scope to individual initiative and American ingenuity, turn out backs finally and completely on alien philosophies of government."

Then Bricker listed four steps to be considered in a constructive program:

"First, we must clean our government. We must get rid of the clutter which is now cluttered and which has been accumulating during years of the New Deal. To clean we must get rid of needless bureaucracy."

"Second, we must restore responsible cabinet government in Washington. All agencies, boards, bureaus, commissions which are not performing essential governmental functions must be immediately liquidated. We must get rid of the clutter of administration of Thomas E. Dewey will be chosen on the basis of qualifications for the job. They will be charged with full authority; they will be held personally responsible."

"Third, the Republican party poses to end the reckless trend toward centralization of all power in the federal government. Unless this trend is ended, state and local governments, sooner or later will be reduced to provincial administrative units—mere satellites revolving about an all-powerful national planet."

"Finally, the Republican party poses to create in this country an atmosphere of opportunity for the individual. The one great problem of the war is jobs—honest jobs—productive jobs. We propose to put men and women to work in private industry as promptly as possible after victory. We propose to give special aid to those who have served in the armed forces."

Bricker outlined what he said was the "New Deal record of almost 10 years" and said its master plan was embraced in words he uttered by "Rexford Guy" well, the New Deal prophet, a man, and his Political Action Committee. It is no secret that this committee, including its Communist herents, proposes to buy this election with money extracted from the hoard and patriotic workers of this country. It likewise is no secret that Sid Hillman and his committee are in complete control of the New Deal party.

"Our people will not soon forget the sorry spectacle of the Democratic national convention. It was Hillman, the big city bosses who made secret decisions that controlled convention. Nor will they ever forget the president's instructions to Democratic National Chairman Hanne delivered in the railway car of commander in chief on a sidetrack Chicago, to 'clear everything up Sidney.'"

BULGARIA GETS

The Bulgarian reshuffle also included the removal of Prince Cyril, uncle of young King Simeon, 11, and Gen. Nikola Mihov, a former minister of war, from the regency council. Earlier the third member, Bogdan Filov, pro-German, had resigned.

The German radio said Prince Cyril and Mihov had been replaced by Professor Wenelin Ganey and Todor Pavlov.

The Berlin broadcast quoting the Sofia radio, said all Bulgarian cabinet members who held office since January 1, 1941 had been arrested and that their property was confiscated.

Georgiev became premier in 1934 after a coup d'etat, but rightist opposition forced him to resign a year later. After the pro-Nazi government was declared war on the United States and Britain he was reported to have been arrested because he opposed collaboration with the Nazis.

Meanwhile Hungary—the Nazis' new Balkan backdoor—under hammerblows of the Soviet drive through Transylvania and persistent battering by Allied air forces, found herself between revolting Slovakia in the north, and rebellious Croatia and Serbia in the south.

Some 150,000 to 250,000 German troops in the southern Balkans which might be used to bolster Hungarian resistance were reported trapped and probably doomed by the juncture of Allied, partisan and Soviet forces between the Adriatic and Romania.

Hungarians were reported panicky. The government tried to bolster morale with appeals of "remember the Alcazar," suggesting the Hungarians fight as did the defenders of the Toledo citadel during the Spanish civil war.

Berlin, still hoping to hold the Hungarians in line, hammered home the propaganda theme that the Balkans were being "Bolshevized" and a German foreign office spokesman said "Bulgaria's treason is ending in chaos."

DAVIS NOT BACKING SENATE CANDIDATE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 9.—Gov. Jimmie Davis of Louisiana told reporters here today that he was taking no part in Louisiana's senatorial primary next Tuesday, in which candidates are contesting the seat of Sen. John H. Overton, who is seeking reelection.

To the question as to whether he was supporting or would support of the four candidates, Governor Davis said:

"I have enough of my own business to attend to without taking on a body else's and I am not running for the Senate."

Senator Overton's opponents are A. Stephens, Griffith T. Hawkins and Charles E. Gerth.

Governor Davis is here on a federal gasoline hearing.

ELECTOR VOTE NO. 1 SUBJECT

Houses More Interest Than Louisiana's Primary Election

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9.—(P)—No. 1 political topic around the capitol these days is not the September primary, but the possibility of an anti-Roosevelt revolt among Louisiana's 10 presidential electors.

The question may be settled at a mid-September meeting of the Democratic state central committee. Anti-Roosevelt dealers already have announced plans to ask approval of a resolution declaring this state's electors "free agents," and pro-Roosevelt forces have indicated they planned to force each elector to pledge support of the Chicago nominees—or resign.

Committee Chairman John Fred Odum and Governor Davis have emphasized their belief that the electors "must" follow Chicago. Odum said he thought the controversy had ended "when the South ousted Wallace," he thought Roosevelt would carry Louisiana, but he reported fourth-term opposition to the president.

Numerically, the question is difficult to pin down. The New Orleans item reported August 19 that five electors leaned toward free action. Of four letters received here from electors, one declared flatly for Roosevelt and Truman, one was undecided, other planned to resign rather than support a fourth term and the fourth-titled the New Deal but said he would vote for its leader rather than Republican.

One, Lamont Seals of Homer, said he would support Roosevelt and Truman, adding "in my judgment, the members of the Democratic party in Louisiana, particularly in the state general, contemplate that the Democratic electors will vote for the party nominees."

Another, George L. Billeaud of Broussard, wrote that he had not reached a decision as to whether or not as an elector he would vote for Roosevelt and Truman.

Brenier Thibaut of Napoleonville indicated he would resign rather than vote a fourth term.

"If the people of Louisiana feel that it is my duty to support the candidates nominated at the convention," he wrote, "I would feel obligated to adhere to their wishes, and since it would be contrary to what I think would be for the best interest of the state, I would rather resign and not vote."

J. W. Reilly, New Orleans, reported he never had voted for Roosevelt, but at that writing would do so as an elector.

"I think that there has been something fundamentally wrong in the philosophy of his New Deal," he wrote. However, I would be slow to vote the Republican ticket on the platform which they inaugurated in Chicago, and as things stand today, I would cast my vote for the nominees of the Democratic party."

"Of course I expect to keep an open mind, and do as my conscience dictates when the time comes to make a decision. If I decide to vote the Republican ticket I will resign as a Democratic presidential elector."

Reilly also had some comments on the electoral system, such as that he believed custom has taken all power from presidential electors, and that the title elector "has become one of these many courtesy titles which exist in politics," such as a colonel on the governor's staff.

"I realize," he said, "that under the present system we in the South who have no machinery for any party other than the Democratic party are out of luck."

"However, there is nothing to prevent the organization of a Republican party in every state if the citizens so desire. I see nothing to be gained by the presidential electors in our state alone, or in connection with those of Texas and Mississippi, constituting themselves as a balance of power between the two traditional parties."

Of the remaining electors at least one, E. Wayles Browne of Shreveport, supported the proposed resolution to make electors "free agents."

The other electors are Louis Riecke, New Orleans; Charles B. Sherrouse, Franklin; Steve Alford, Amite; P. T. Sartwell, Lake Charles and Paul Gilham, Alexandria.

Here, for what they're worth as around the capital on the subject: That the mid-September state committee meeting will force all electors to pledge Roosevelt-Truman support or resign, that the state committee will adopt the "free agents" policy after a compromise on Byrd-Truman "ticket," and that Louisiana Republicans will complicate the whole picture by selecting as their own electors any of the 10 Democratic electors who agree to bolt.

WILL SELL 5,000 MOTOR VEHICLES

Sedans, Trucks, Station Wagons, Motorcycles To Be Included

ATLANTA, Sept. 9.—(P)—More than 5,000 army motor vehicles will be sold for civilian use at Southeastern posts between September 11 and October 23 but there won't be a single jeep in the lot.

The used vehicles, classed as surplus by the army, will be sold at ceiling prices only to used car dealers. One type of dealer will be given purchase priority. These hold letters of recommendation from government agencies for purchase of vehicles for sale to essential users.

As an example, a dealer holds a letter from the agricultural adjustment agency, recommending that farmer John Doe be sold a half-ton truck. Dealers are assigned a number and the number of all dealers holding these letters are placed in receptacles according to the type of vehicle specified in the letters. Numbers from the receptacles are drawn first and when all have been drawn and the vehicles supplied, the rotation of numbers in which all dealers participate opens and continues until all vehicles are sold.

The 5,000 cars to be disposed of includes 541 sedans. Other types are half-ton command and reconnaissance cars, half stake ton trucks, motorcycles, station wagons, weapon carriers and ton and half cargo four wheel drive trucks.

Treasury Department officials said there had not been a single jeep sold

Louisiana Needs Senator Overton

Louisiana goes to the polls Tuesday in the United States Senate race with little if any political factionalism involved in the issues. In fact as the campaign has proceeded it has been difficult to determine any particularly sharp issues among the individual candidates other than that three gentlemen apparently had a perfectly understandable desire to become United States senator by contesting the seat of Sen. John H. Overton of Alexandria and exercised their inalienable right to do so.

There is no issue in this contest of one political machine versus another or of one faction versus another. Leaders from all machines, factions and groups in all parts of the state have forgotten their past political differences to back Senator Overton because in so doing they are backing and furthering the present and future interests of all of Louisiana and not merely of one part of its citizenship or one part of its geographical terrain.

There is however one general issue for Louisiana in this contest and it is a big one.

It is not an issue to divide people politically but one that should unite them politically.

We believe that the election count Tuesday night will show that it has united them.

That issue is whether Louisiana should throw away all of the tested experience proven ability and 12 years of vital and important Senate committee seniority of Senator Overton to take on someone with none of these qualifications and whose chief claim to popular support rests only on what we have already described as simply an understandable desire to be one of Louisiana's United States senators.

It was on this issue that the Ewing papers of north Louisiana assumed leadership in urging Senator Overton to reconsider his original decision not to run for reelection. That was done before anyone had come forth as a contestant for his post and consequently no personalities were in any way involved. We have at no time criticized any of his opponents nor has Senator Overton. We have attempted to give all a fair deal in our news columns. We utter no criticism now. We have disagreed with Senator Overton in the past and may again in the future. But we recognize what he has done for Louisiana in peace and war and what the promise of that record holds for Louisiana's future.

Because of these things we discarded our own past political affiliations to urge him to make the race and we are proud of our part in his final decision to do so. Because of these things we gave our strongest editorial commendation and support to him at the start of the campaign. Because of these things we repeat that commendation and support now in full confidence that the future will in every way justify it.

Senator Overton has made a fine, clean, dignified campaign. He has dealt in no abuse, no personalities, no mud-slinging. He has made no stumping tour because his presence in Washington was essential. We are certain that those sections of the state which were disappointed that he could not visit them will understand this—will understand that with his own political future at stake in Louisiana he unhesitatingly stuck to his job in Washington and placed the welfare of Louisiana, its people and its sons and daughters in uniform far above his own interests.

There is not a section of Louisiana that does not have some vital issue of its own involved in Washington legislation in which Senator Overton is a key figure. That applies to Shreveport's Red river bank control and proposed lateral barge canal to the Mississippi; to the Ouachita and other drainage and flood control problems of the northeast part of the state to similar projects throughout the central section to the vital intra-coastal canals of the southern section of Louisiana. He is chairman of the committees or sub-committees handling all of these things. If he is replaced in the Senate he also will be replaced on these committees but not by anyone from Louisiana and probably not by anyone even from the South. Senator Overton also has played a key part in all army and navy appropriation legislation in the Senate and has been recognized publicly for these services by such high officials as assistant secretary of the navy board and Senator Truman, chairman of the Senate war-conduct investigating committee and Democratic vice-presidential candidate. The respect with which he is held in the Senate was attested by the 50 Democratic senators who signed a letter urging him to run for reelection.

There also is this to remember about Tuesday's voting. If Senator Overton is not reelected north Louisiana and central Louisiana will have no direct representation in the United States Senate at a time when legislation of Paramount interest to every citizen of these sections of the state will be up for action. That applies not only to these general areas but specifically to each of their cities and towns such as Monroe, Shreveport, Tallulah, St. Joseph, Alexandria, Minden and all of the rest. All of Senator Overton's opponents are from south Louisiana and so is our other incumbent senator. No sections of Louisiana have a greater interest in giving Senator Overton a vital wave vote Tuesday than do the northeast, northwest and central parts of the state.

Again we urge the people of Louisiana to join us in discarding all past political affiliations and to give Senator Overton a huge vote of appreciation for what he has done for Louisiana and of confidence in what we know he will try to do in the future if returned to the post he has filled so well for so long.

ANOTHER PERFECT RECORD

The Swayze Natatorium closes today, and again the summer swimming season passes without a fatality at the pool. Not one person has drowned in the eight years that the natatorium has been in operation.

This remarkable record was made despite the fact that on many days the pool was crowded to capacity. It is incredible that fatal accidents have been prevented, and the thanks of the entire community should be given Commissioner Tidwell's competent crew of attendants whose constant vigilance throughout the season is again responsible for maintaining the natatorium's perfect record.

Mr. Tidwell has chosen his personnel wisely. Under Capt. Jack Blanks, the corps of life guards is a well-trained, alert and efficient group of men whose efforts in enforcing safety rules have prevented probable fatalities. Captain Blanks has taken a personal interest in the city's youngsters and many children have learned to swim under his tutelage, and at the same time have been taught what is dangerous in the water.

Before the Swayze natatorium was opened we had frequent drownings of persons swimming in the river and elsewhere. And during the summer we have read of fatalities in municipal pools in other cities and towns of the state. But such tragedies have been prevented here.

Mr. Tidwell and his associates are to be congratulated on their remarkable record.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—To hand this morning's publicity item from Warner Brothers extolling Alexis Smith because she has disregarded her official star rating and consented to play a supporting role in "Of Human Bondage," I gather from the tone of the dispatch that I'm supposed to be profoundly amazed, and, to be honest, I am. I'm astonished that such an exhibition of common horse-sense should be considered news-worthy.

The Hollywood system of grading players according to their fancied box-office importance, and then determining what roles they shall play by such ratings, is not only absurd but actually inimical to good acting and good pictures. It robs a young player of exactly the kind of experience he needs to become a finished trapper.

The late Max Reinhardt, one of the greatest theatrical producers and a successful star-builder, made his players alternate between leading roles and supporting parts so that they might become expert in portraying all types of characters. Most European producers follow his example.

Here in Hollywood, a player's rating weighs more than his ability. We have more than 150 recognized stars—many of them accorded that dignity before they were out of their professional diapers—but you can count on your fingers our really fine overhaers.

I was amused when I overheard two big-shot producers talking about "Some of These Days," said to be one of the hottest exposes of show business and show people ever written. Did my two filmoguls resent the vitriolic nature of Miss Tuck's pen child? Not at all! Nor have they ever resented broadsides fired at them and their "cast" by members of their own professional family. But let an "outsider" offer criticism and, hoity-toity, their backs arch, their claws are unsheathed and they immediately begin to spit like so many cats at sight of a strange dog! Evidently it's less painful to be harpooned by a blood relative than by a stranger.

I know an extra girl who discounted Esther Williams' screen success by observing that "no wonder she got the breaks; she was already a famous athlete." As a matter of fact, Miss Williams' fame in the world of sports makes her success in pictures all the more remarkable. In the last 20 years, Hollywood has tried to make stars out of scores of athletes, both male and female, but only four have succeeded. Those four are Sonja Henie, Vera Hruba Ralston, Johnny Weissmuller and Buster Crabbe—two ice skaters and two swimmers. Why such an overwhelming percentage of athletes should fail has always left me baffled.

I'm not indulging in recriminations when I recall Cary Grant's many delusions of grandeur that he and Barbara Hutton were mating. After all, it's natural for a man to "cover up" as long as he feels he has a chance to avert a matrimonial crash. But Cary's case is another "exhibit" to prove that Dame Rumor, for all the nasty things said about her, is still a fairly dependable sort of gal. Nine times out of ten when she whispers that a movie pair are on the shoals, the couple join in calling her a liar. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred they get a divorce.

A philosopher should be able to draw a neat conclusion from an incident I observed on a movie set the other day. It was a war picture; the scene being filmed had a Japanese officer slap an American girl. That sounds simple enough but the Japanese officer was played by a Chinese—and the Chinese have an obsession against slapping women. In take after take, the reluctant slapper pulled his punch so obviously that the scene was ineffective. Finally the director, thoroughly enraged, ordered the cameras moved until only the hand would show in the close-up, and undertook the slapping job himself. Being furious, he dealt the actress a whack that reeled her back on her heels and brought tears to her eyes. What did she gain from the chivalry of the Chinese?

The first 14 minutes of the newswheel in our theater last night showed some of the most impressive and gruesome battle scenes ever filmed. The last minute showed a bathing beauty parade with all its silly trimmings. We are a strange people, aren't we? (Released by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 17 Text: II Samuel 24:7; 3:1-10 By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Two things are notable in the text of this lesson, especially the portion in the fifth chapter of II Samuel.

First, and of prime importance, is the manner of setting up the kingdom and establishing David as king. David, then 30 years old, had lived a crowded and adventurous life leading what was ostensibly a lawless life at the head of a band of disaffected men. Conditions in the kingdom were unsatisfactory under King Saul, who could neither give Israel peace from enemies, nor peace and prosperity within.

Saul's threats against the life of David, and the young shepherd-warrior from cooperating and helping to build the kingdom as he was later able to do. The situation was virtually one of civil war, or it would have been if David had been less magnanimously disposed toward Saul, and less regardless of the sanctity of the kingly person and office.

But with the death of Saul, David could emerge from his cave leadership and assume the place for which he was qualified and destined. There were those who clung to Saul, and who attempted to hold the kingdom for Ishbosheth, his son, and it is this that gives significance to the assembling of "the elders of Israel" at Hebron, and the league that David made with them. It is a note of ancient democracy giving validity to David's kingship. There was war between those who supported David and those who held that the right of kingship should be by birth; but

By HENRY McLEMORE

Dear Jean: To think that I ever complained about the heat when I was in the United States. I just looked at the thermometer, which is hanging just outside of my tent, and it is one hundred and thirty six. I was just thinking that I would gladly give fifty dollars (if I knew where I could borrow the fifty) for a drink of cold water. Do you know how lucky you are to live in a country where you can step into the corner drugstore and get a glass of cold water? Naturally we are all sick of canned rations but I would sign a pledge, without the promise of a gold watch when I was eighteen, either, to eat canned rations for the next ten years if I could just have a glass of ice water whenever I wanted it.

I am now somewhere in Dutch New Guinea, having arrived by plane yesterday. If it weren't for the terrific heat during the day and the cold at night this place is a little bit of heaven compared to Bougainville. There are practically no insects! You can't imagine how pleasant it is to be getting caloused from head to foot from swatting myself so constantly in an effort to destroy some of the annual life that had adopted me for a home. Saw a very funny sight this morning. I went out to do a little Jap hunting and as I was sneaking through the underbrush I heard a terrific commotion ahead of me. Through the jungle came a native chieftain on a litter. The old boy was sitting on a stretcher-like arrangement, carried on the shoulders of four of the finest black physical specimens you ever saw in your life. The right front litter-bearer had on a Lucky Strike carton for a cap. In front of a Chesterfield carton, right and left rear, Camel cartons. They had twisted and bent them into the shape of GI caps, and they all wore them jauntily tilted over their right eyes.

My buddy, who was on patrol with me, took a good look at the chieftain passed us with a friendly nod. Then he turned to me and said, "McLemore, it's very important that you tell me in detail what you just saw. I think I saw what I saw but I'm not sure. Get to talking, Brother, before I'm convinced that the jungle has gotten me down at last."

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent)

In writing legislation to control the disposal of surplus war property, both Houses of Congress crashed through with proposals that all receipts from these sales should be applied against the public debt.

To the man in the street and the women and children on the sidewalk, this proposal sounds good. In Congress the proposal was made to sound even better than it really is because it was bandied about that there were 75 to 100 billion dollars worth of surplus stuff to be sold and the impression given that the national debt would therefore be reduced by that amount so that the cost of the war would be cut a third.

But the picture isn't nearly that rosy. Bureau of the budget estimates that the cost of the war, by June, 1945, will be $289,800,000,000. This is just the American taxpayers' and bond-buyers' share. It divides roughly as 30 per cent pay and subsistence, 10 per cent construction and 60 per cent munitions, including ships. The pay and subsistence are not recoverable, the munitions will have been largely sold away or will be of future use to only the armed services. The salvageable part that can be resold as surplus property won't bring 20 cents on the dollar, and if the government gets $15,000,000,000 net from these sales it can call itself lucky.

How Congress Would Spend It
But even a mere 15 billion bucks isn't to be sneezed at, though it's only a fraction of the total national debt. So the question is, do you want to earmark this estimated $15,000,000,000 receipts from the sales of surplus property for reducing the national debt?

That proposal apparently made sense to a majority of the congressmen, but the United States treasury and bureau of budget officials say it's no good, for reasons which will be gone into presently.

Two-Pockets Spending
To all such arguments, however, the executive ends of the government turn up their noses and turn down their thumbs. The only time the government can reduce its debt, they say, is when receipts are greater than expenditures. That condition has not existed during the war, so the debt has gone up. But to take any special post-war receipts and earmark them for debt retirement simply means that Congress will have to appropriate that much more money and levy that much more in taxes to run the government, and that the national expenditures will therefore be increased by the same amount that is put into debt retirement. It is like the old trick of spending your money out of two pockets instead of one.

Now cooking in the treasury is a big plan for post-war debt retirement. Until that is presented to Congress, says Assistant Secretary Daniel W. Bell, the treasury is opposing any other legislation on debt retirement.

SMALL TRUCK TIRE QUOTA IS REDUCED

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 9.—(P)—The grade 1 passenger and small truck tire quota for the Shreveport district OPA has been drastically cut for the month of September, according to J. E. Brumfield, director of the district office.

The quota of 6,569 for September shows a decrease of about 4,000 from the 10,484 quota set for the month of July for the 26 north Louisiana parishes served by the Shreveport office. The drastic cut-back in the monthly quota is necessary, district OPA officials explained, because during the past four months more grade 1 passenger tires have been rationed for distribution than have been produced each month. During these months the inventories were adequate to warrant that procedure because the projected monthly production was to have increased.

Crony Liz, Crony Mariel and Crony Helen etc. Why don't you get 11 of your friends together and ask Mrs. Meyer to coach you in the gentle art of football?

I'm leaving here day after tomorrow and going back to British New Guinea. When I think how I used to stand by the railroad track, and watch the Dixie Flyer go by, wondering if I'd ever grow up and make enough money to take a train trip way, away up to New York City! My Uncle Samuel has certainly taken care of my traveling for me, except his plans didn't include a Dixie Flyer trip to New York. When that man sends you traveling, he's no piker.

We're all very cheered up here over the war news from Europe. Give me one American soldier for every 20 that the enemy has ever produced. Keep writing every day. Your letters catch up with me in batches now, but what a field day it is when me and my batch get together.

All my love,

NEW YORK—Diary: Reading Sign on Strunsky's new book of essays about New York, "No Mean City," and am happy to find that the leisurely scholarly, graceful style of the veteran writer is as pleasant to read now as it was when I first read him in the old and then respected New York Evening Post. That must have been in my prep school days... I see in a biographical sketch that he went to work as a writer for the Post in 1916, staying with the paper until 1924... He has been a valuable part of the editorial page of the Times from that date until now... He was born in Russia, 65 years ago... Each day he writes the column, "Topics of the Times," one of the best pieces of daily writing in the town... The title of the new book, of course, is taken from the words of St. Paul, who, when he was bedeviling and threatening his always let the enemy know that he bore the proud title of Roman Citizen and they had better be careful how they handled him... On one occasion he said it in this way, "I am citizen of no mean city..." To the Roman, in those days, everything of a side of Rome was Bridgeport, and certain New York actress has said about everything outside of New York.

News of Hard-Boiled Smith comes from Mr. A. W. Brand, of San Diego, who says that he has checked his files with S. C. Kelly, former corner of San Diego county. He says Hard-Boiled Smith was shot and killed in the Lake Hodges-Edmonds road near Camp Kearney, in the fall of 1919, by a soldier.

I wonder what happened to the soldier, tortured and subjected to horrible indignities by Smith during the war to end wars, sworn to kill brute when peace came.

I hope and believe that there is Hard-Boiled Smith in this war on our side.

There is a notorious bum and peahandler operating on the East Side who uses force to compel his victim to contribute. He walks with crutches and a wooden leg, so is generally known by the unimaginative name Pegleg.

His chief sources of wealth are East Side bars, particularly at First, Second and Third avenues, 14th street to upper midtown.

He comes stumping into a bar when there is a good lineup, signs of being distinctly heated with liquor. He starts with the customer in line.

"Here, gimme a quarter!" he says. If the victim doesn't respond, or fuses the gift, Pegleg begins shouting around. He puts at his cost, by his tie, throws his hat on the floor. "Give, give!" he growls. "If you drink whiskey, you can give me a quarter! Come on, now!"

A man is ashamed to fight with crutches, so usually gives. The performance is repeated all the way down line, but most contribute quietly, witnessing the first assault.

A very large proprietor of one of the ordered Pegleg out of the place. "Whaddya mean?" snarled the crip and brought his left crutch around a swift half-circle, striking the proprietor across the shins. The big man retreated.

Next night Pegleg came again, the scene was repeated. While several stars from the crutch below, the Irishman this time clipped Pegleg's jaw, knocked him down, and bodily threw him out upon the sidewalk.

There the bum lay howling, calling all good citizens to witness how he had been beaten by a big bully.

A riot ensued. It was stopped by a cop, who arrested Pegleg and commended the tavern keeper.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS EFFORT STYMIED

pleasure First Introduced In Congress In 1923 Still There

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The proposed constitutional amendment to give women equal rights with men has been stymied for years.

It first was introduced in Congress in 1923. It's still there. It never has reached the floor for debate.

A number of women's organizations, particularly the National Women's party (N. W. P.), have fought to get through.

A number of women's organizations, particularly the National League of Women Voters (N. L. W. V.)—have fought against it.

This division of thinking occurs among politicians and congressmen.

In order for the amendment effectively to become part of the constitution this would have to happen:

Two-thirds of the House and Senate would have to approve. Then 36 of the states would have to okay it. Then, in order to give the states time in which to make their laws conform, five years would elapse before the amendment went into operation.

Here are some arguments by those opposing the amendment:

You can't legislate equal rights. It's a social problem which can be worked out only in time.

True, a number of state laws specifically discriminate against women to the advantage of men. But a number of state laws also specifically benefit women.

As an example of the beneficial laws: mothers' pensions; laws compelling husbands to support their wives; and labor laws giving women social privileges.

But all the laws—discriminatory and beneficial—would be wiped out when state legislators sat down to make new state laws conform to the constitutional provision for equal rights for both sexes.

In addition, there would be tremendous confusion in the courts and new state laws would have to be created. For instance, in those states where a girl is permitted to marry at 16, without parents' consent but a man must be 21, new laws and age limits would have to be created.

Now here are some of the arguments by those seeking the constitutional change:

This country's constitution does not, but should, guarantee women citizens the same rights and protection that men have.

The constitution was based on medieval English common law under which the rights of men were protected and respected but women were considered under the authority of their husbands.

Under the amendment, no state could have one law for men and another for women.

But now in the various states there are more than 1,000 laws discriminating against women. For instance: Discrimination in regard to property rights, inheritance rights, divorce, the right to work for a living, the right to compete on fair terms with men, others engaged in the same work, own and control one's earnings, engage in all lawful occupations, jury service, government service, the holding of public office, the right of contract.

A constitutional amendment is needed to establish nationally the principle of equal rights for women. Depending upon the individual states to do this voluntarily is a process too long-drawn out. And even if it might not be accomplished. Meanwhile, without the amendment, no state can pass more discriminatory laws.

The amendment would not affect maternity legislation, mothers' pensions, or aid for dependent children. But it would enable women to get equal pay for equal work.

As to the contention that the amendment would cause a tremendous jam of litigation as states wiped out many of their present laws: No litigation under the amendment would be so laborious as eliminating present discriminatory laws one by one.

CAPT. C. F. BEARD TELLS OF INDIA

FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 9.—(Special)—In letters received recently from Capt. Charles F. Beard by his mother, Mrs. Frank Licata, and other relatives it is interesting to hear that he has enjoyed a much needed rest in a camp at Simbar, India, located some distance from his post in the jungle.

Captain Beard wrote of having gone there by plane and of having seen the famous Taj Mahal and other beautiful sights including a castle in which he and other officers spent some time.

The food, he said, that appealed to him most were juicy steaks and ice cream. A change of temperature from 128 degrees in the jungles to one of 68 degrees or thereabouts necessitating the use of woolen blankets and clothes, he added, was delightful.

He said that the note of charm prevailing everywhere was the frequent serving of tea and cookies. He added that he had also appreciated a bedside table and light which have no place in the jungle.

SALVATIONISTS GIVEN PRAISE

Eddie Rickenbacker Says They Are Needed More Than Ever

The following tribute is paid to the Salvation Army by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker:

"The Salvation Army was never needed more than at this minute. Devotion to God and their fellow men, exemplified by sacrificial service of its men and women officers, sets the pattern for the whole country to follow in these times. Their unselfish service has brought them close to the hearts of our men in uniform. The Salvation Army knows no 40 hour week. It does the job in hand, as we must all learn to do it nowadays. In ministering to the needs of the body it does not lose sight of those of the spirit."

The Salvation Army is on the march again—an army without guns—5,000, 600 strong in 36 countries and colonies. It is the same outfit whose lassies stood in the rain at Montiers-sur-Saulx, somewhere behind the front lines in France, during 1917, and turned out the first 150 doughnuts that were to become a byword for every fighting man. The doughnut is back again in 1944, and it is a reminder of home for fighters on every front.

All over the world thousands of Salvation Army officers and workers are carrying on their work among the troops—in Australia, Egypt, India, Africa, in Great Britain, and Canada, the jungles of New Guinea and the vastness of Alaska and Iceland.

Maj. Owen T. Moore and four of his associates were the first welfare workers to pitch their tents in the New Guinea jungle. Here, they also set up Red Shield huts where soldiers could get coffee and biscuits.

Delayed dispatches from Australia tell of the army's work on the battlefields in New Guinea. Capt. Charles Cross, in charge of this work, says: "A Red Shield hut was established within 300 yards of enemy landings at Milne Bay. In the thick of the fight Salvationists dispensed water, tea, and biscuits to weary fighters while they helped regular army chaplains care for the wounded and the dying."

In Juneau, Alaska, Mrs. R. B. Leshner, the only white woman Salvationist within hundreds of miles, has started a tailoring service for soldiers. She and her assistants who include the governor's wife have become expert at tailoring an overcoat or shortening the sleeves on a field jacket.

MER ROUGE LIONS FAVOR HOSPITAL

Enthusiastic support was unanimously voted by the Lions Club of Mer Rouge for the location of the new veterans hospital in Monroe. It was announced by W. T. Blackwell, president of the Mer Rouge Lions Club. "A veterans hospital located in Monroe would be of great benefit to the citizens of Mer Rouge and Morehouse parish," Mr. Blackwell stated, "particularly to those who might have wounded sons in the hospital because of its nearness to their homes."

A telegram to Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans Hospital Association, and a letter strongly urging the building of the new veteran hospital to be located in Louisiana be built in Ouachita parish, were sent by the Mer Rouge Lions Club Friday.

Attending the meeting from the Twin Cities were W. M. Mitchell, president of the West Monroe Lions Club; L. E. Mathis, secretary of the Monroe Lions Club, and Mrs. Mathis, and George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Holland.

RECEIVES COPY OF HOPKINS' CITATION

Mrs. George S. Hopkins, Lake Providence, has received a copy of her husband's citation which accompanied his award of the Bronze Star Medal. The citation was signed by Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, commander of the American Fifth Army in Italy and was dated Aug. 2, 1944. The citation reads:

"George S. Hopkins, major, medical corps, U. S. army. For heroic achievement in action, near Anzio, Italy, On 7 February 1944, enemy air raids inflicted heavy damage and numerous casualties among patients and personnel of an evacuation hospital. Major Hopkins immediately rushed to the scene of the bombing and rendered first aid and shock treatment to the wounded. Finishing this task, he performed surgery on the wounded throughout the night. By his calm and efficient performance he succeeded in saving many lives. On 29 March 1944, Major Hopkins, although wounded by an enemy demolition bomb, heroically continued to render surgical treatment to casualties throughout the night. His courage and devotion to duty reflect the high traditions of the medical corps of the United States army."

Major Hopkins attended the Tulane University school of medicine and interned at Touro Infirmary in New Orleans. He practiced medicine in Lake Providence from 1932 until he entered the service in November 1940. He was the assistant chief of the surgical service at the Camp Shelby hospital. He has been overseas since February, 1943, and participated in the invasions of Sicily, Salerno, and Anzio. He is now with the Fifth Army in Italy.

His wife will be remembered as Edna Giloil of Lake Providence.

FRENCH BARRED AT EIFFEL TOWER

Kept Away From Structure During German Occupation Of France

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following column was written before Hal Boyle was injured in a motorcycle accident in Paris.)

By Hal Boyle
PARIS, Aug. 29.—(Delayed)—(P)—I have just climbed 1,710 steps to get to the top of this Gallic oil derrick and I understand now why Paris fell so easily to Allied troops—the Germans were just to plumb worn out from climbing the Eiffel tower to defend the city.

Less than a week ago Nazi guards were standing in this topmost cubicle of the 984-foot tower which gives a splendid 60-mile view of the metropolitan area. Over them flapped the swastika. Now the Germans are gone. Only smashed remnants remain of the machinery with which they detected the approach of Allied planes and tried to jam Allied radio broadcasts.

A few feet over my head fly three great flags—two French and the Stars and Stripes.

But signs of the departed sons of the seastika are all about. Scores of names—Heinrich Schulte, Max Helmer, Erhard Klimpt—are scratched in the steel framework.

It appealed strongly to the teutonic military mind—this great tower built in 1887 to 1889 by Alexandre Eiffel and which is twice as tall as Egypt's great pyramids. Perhaps they were impressed by the fact that it was the tallest structure in the world until the erection of the Empire State and Chrysler skyscrapers in Manhattan. It weighs seven thousand tons, has twelve thousand metal pieces fastened together by 2,500,000 rivets.

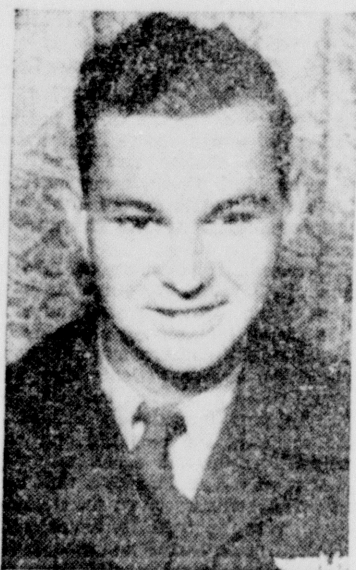

Perhaps they only wanted to write home to their fraus: "Look, mama, I climbed the Eiffel tower." Whatever the reason, they came here by the thousands—and all that remains of their four-year conquest is the myriad painfully scratched names which will be erased by the next coat of paint.

"No French civilian was allowed to climb the tower since the Germans came because they were using it for military purposes," said Paul Picard, French electrician. "But thousands of Nazi soldier tourists each day used to go up to the top in the elevator or climb the stairs. The last German guards destroyed the machinery two days before French troops entered, but they were taken prisoners."

Lack of electricity stalled the elevators today but scores of French people and a few American soldiers clambered up the steps to the first floor of the famous landmark. "It's a wonderful job," said T. S. Nicky Johnson, Kenmore, N. Y., aviation engineer. "It looks much bigger than I thought from seeing it in pictures."

Less interested in its technical aspects were Pvt. C. W. Seibert, Newport, Ky., and Pfc. Arthur Cain, Lynn, Mass., who toiled up the stairs with two French girls named Jeannette and Noelle who wore their helmets. "I wish

T. Sgt. Arthur C. Hicks was killed in action in the southwest Pacific area August 21. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. O. H. Burns and Mrs. T. B. Nolan, both of Monroe. He was a graduate of O. P. H. S. and went overseas January, 1944. He was crew chief on a B-24.

it were high enough for me to see that old Ohio river," said Seibert, and Cain, grinning, said, "we were going to try to get a kiss from these girls but now we are too tired to ask."

By getting a special pass George Fronval, Paris newspaperman, and I were able to go beyond the first floor and climb our painful, weary way up the series of windswept and scary spiral staircases to the summit. En route Fronval, between gasps for breath, explained that the Eiffel tower—like Niagara Falls back home—was something of a stuntman's paradise. Nobody has yet gone over it in a barrel but one journalist rode down its stairs on a bicycle to win a thousand franc bet. Another man was killed trying to parachute from the first floor and at least seven or eight each year committed suicide by leaping from it.

When we finally crawled to the top-most point and stood there completely winded and with shaking legs, Fronval dismissed the glorious view with a wave of the hand and shouted: "Eet my wife she could see me now she would say 'George, I tink you nuts.' Me—I tink she ees right."

TECH SECURES NOTED MUSICIAN

Marshall E. Bretz Is Named Assistant Organ Professor

RUSTON, La., Sept. 9.—(Special)—Marshall E. Bretz, who twice since 1942 has demonstrated his virtuosity as an organist in guest recitals at Louisiana Tech, has come to Tech again, this time to stay as assistant professor of organ and piano. He succeeds Einar Brant, resigned.

According to President Claybrook Nottingham, the association of Mr. Bretz with the Tech faculty was made possible through the cooperation of the Trinity Methodist Church of Ruston, which has assumed payment of part of the salary of Mr. Bretz by employing him as minister of music.

Mr. Bretz received his master's degree from the school of music at the Union Theological seminary in 1936 under Dr. Clarence Dickinson, an international authority on church music and himself a virtuoso on the organ. Mr. Bretz began his duties here September 1.

L. V. E. Irvine, head of the music department at Tech, has announced that with the employment of Mr. Bretz, plans are being made to develop a course in church music here, and Tech students now will be able to major in pipe organ under his instruction.

Mr. Bretz obtained his bachelor of music degree at West Chester (Pa.) Teachers' College, while Mr. Irvine was a member of the faculty at that institution. Mr. Bretz has completed many of the requirements leading to a doctor of sacred music from Union Theological seminary. He also has studied piano at the Juilliard Institute of Musical Art in New York.

Although Mr. Bretz taught for one year at West Chester College, he has devoted most of his attention—18 years—to the church music field. At the age of 14 he became assistant organist at the Zion-Lutheran church of Harrisburg, Pa., and the following year he was appointed organist there.

Later Mr. Bretz served as organist in West Chester, and for five years he was minister of music at a Patterson, N. J., church. For the past two years he has been similarly employed at a large Presbyterian church in Cincinnati. In connection with most of his church work, he has conducted several choral societies.

Most people at Tech already are acquainted with Mr. Bretz, or at least with his ability, because of two earlier visits. He played the first organ concert on the Tech organ in June, 1942, and he returned for a second appearance in June of this year.

Mr. Bretz is 33 years of age. He is married and is the father of a daughter, 14 months old.

Mr. Bretz is glad to be at Tech, for he has "wanted to get into college work" for some time. "I felt that Tech and Ruston offered an excellent opportunity," he said.

He will take over the work of directing the choir at Trinity Church this week, and he will undertake to amplify the music program there.

Registration for a one-day school of instruction sponsored by the Twin Cities council of the Parent-Teacher organization, is scheduled Monday morning, September 11, from 9:30 to 10 o'clock at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Walter Buhlig, national P-T-A. field worker from Chicago, will direct the series of meetings.

Organizations in 11 schools of the fifth district have been notified of the conference, and invitations have been issued to all units in the parish and district, to school officials and to all persons who are interested in P-T-A. work. Mrs. George Varino, president of the Twin Cities Council, is urging all officers and representatives of standing committees of each local unit to attend the school of instruction in order to fill the requirement of the goal sheet.

This all-day meeting is planning with a view toward giving instruction, information and inspiration concerning parent-teacher activities. Such meetings are sponsored by one of the divisions of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers by a local unit, or group of units, a parish or city council, a district or state branch. The National Congress points out that well-planned schools of instruction may be a strong factor in making parent-teacher leadership become more increasingly effective. ## 'LEMON SQUASH' IS CROWDED OUT

Chocolate Malted Milk Now Has Right Of Way In Trinidad

American soldiers have created such a boom for chocolate malted milk on the island of Trinidad, B. W. L., that it has virtually replaced the traditional British lemon squash in popularity there, according to Capt. Riggby Satterfield of the Salvation Army. When Captain Satterfield went to the South American island in April to direct the USO Service Men's Clubhouse there, he promptly installed an American soda fountain, such as is found in all chain drug stores, in the club's main lobby. The most popular spot in the club with soldiers, sailors, and marines of all United Nations, the fountain has more requests for chocolate malted milk than any other drink, he reported.

Since then, Captain Satterfield said, everyone on the island, civilians and soldiers alike, is switching to malted, or "USO punch," as they call it. "Island folk are even mixing them in their homes, using an egg-beater instead of the electric mixer," he added.

The USO clubhouse, located in Port-of-Spain is open to all service men and can accommodate 1,000 visitors.

tors, Captain Satterfield is the son of Major and Mrs. J. M. Satterfield, of Winston-Salem, N. C. Before his assignment to Trinidad, he was a director of service men's clubs operated by the Salvation Army in the South.

How much does it cost to move a pin?

On a war map of the South Pacific, the little red-white-and-blue pins march steadily westward.

Tarawa... Makin... the Marshalls... Saipan... and each move brings the pins closer to Tokyo.

Each move is mighty expensive business. The cost is high in dollars... the cost is high in men.

To plant the Stars and Stripes on Saipan cost the lives of more than 2,000 American boys... plus some 12,000 wounded and missing.

Naturally, these losses cannot be summed up in dollars and cents... there is not enough money in the world to bring back 2,000 dead Americans.

But in guns, ammunition, and other equipment, it is estimated that Saipan cost us many millions of dollars. Each of the many steppingstones remaining between our forces and Tokyo may cost as much or more.

Where is the money coming from?

It's coming from you, and millions of Americans like you... from the taxes you pay, and from the War Bonds you buy.

And while it may pinch a little, buying those Bonds is the smartest thing you ever did.

For the dollars you put in Bonds not only help win the war. They come back to you later—and bring more dollars with them.

In this post-war world we're going to build, they'll be the most valuable dollars anybody ever owned.

Get all you can of them—NOW!

Marriage At Grace Church Of Interest

Impressive Ceremony Unites Young Couple In Marriage September First

"With This Ring I Thee Wed," are the thrilling words heard most often these days of hasty weddings. Never before in the history of this historic old city has the late summer months witnessed so many weddings and never before has Lohengrin's Wedding March been the theme song for September.

The first wedding to take place in September was that of Miss Eleanor Ruth Royce, daughter of Mrs. J. T. Royce and Mrs. William Everett Dozier Jr., United States Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dozier of Delhi, La. The ceremony, September 1, took place at Grace Episcopal Church with the rector, Dr. E. F. Hayward, officiating in the presence of a few close friends and relatives.

Autumnal flowers banked the chancel and altar and overflowed from tall urns forming a semi-circle for the wedding party.

While the guests were being seated the organist rendered a pre-nuptial concert.

The two maids of honor, Miss Marjorie Lester and Miss Nan Drew, wore exquisite models of azure blue satin and point d'esprit and carried distinctive bouquets of pink Briercliff roses. They wore garlands of roses in their hair attached to a headdress of pink net.

The bridegroom was attended by his father, W. E. Dozier and his groomsmen were C. H. Fulson, J. S. Drew and Roy Witter.

The bride, given in marriage by Dr. DeWitt Milam, wore the traditional wedding gown of white Duchesse satin with tight bodice, embroidered in seed pearls. The sleeves were long and full and the bouffant skirt ended in a court train. For something old she wore a handsome antique brooch belonging to the bridegroom's aunt and worn by generations of brides in the Dozier family long before the Civil war. She carried a white ivory bound prayer book marked with a spray of white orchids and stephanotis.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the George Lester home on Forsythe avenue.

The bride's mother was assisted in receiving by the bridegroom's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Lester. The drawing room was candlelit and adorned with autumnal flowers.

A variety of confections were served during the receiving hours from a

RAINBOW GIRLS HONORED

Two members of the Order of Rainbow for Girls were recently elected to office in the local chapter. Miss Ella Louise Mussett, left, was named Grand Recorder at the Louisiana Grand Assembly held in Shreveport. beautifully appointed, candlelit, lace covered table in the dining room. The cutting of the wedding cake by the bride and bridegroom before they departed on their honeymoon was an interesting feature of the evening.

The bride changed her wedding tulle and lace into a handsome tulle and lace and departed with Ensign Dozier for Norfolk, Va., where he will be stationed.

The bride is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. She is a member of Delta Kappa Pi and Delta Beta Sigma sororities and a pledge of Sigma Kappa.

Al Fresco Affair At Inobnet Home

Once every year members of the Parker Memorial Sunday School class invite their husbands and friends to enjoy an evening purely social. The event this year was unusually enjoyable as it took place in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Barlow Inobnet's hospitable home.

Supper was served al fresco at beautifully appointed tables served in gay fiesta ware. Those responsible for this colorful affair were: Mrs. H. M. Davis, Mrs. R. E. Lucky, Mrs. T. L. McMurphy, Mrs. James Harbuck, Mrs. J. R. Coulter, Miss Maible Hood and Miss Myrtle Reid.

Others present were: Mrs. J. B. Anthony, Mrs. Carl Atkinson, Mrs. R. E. Bedwell, Mrs. Ruby McLaughlin, Mrs. Frank Martin, Mrs. Tom Miller, Mrs. J. F. Prendergast, Miss Ola May Pennington, Miss Juanita Porter, Miss Florence Powers, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Pumphrey, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ransom, Mrs. W. L. Reid, Mrs. A. C. Robbins, Mrs. J. W. Russell, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. W. J. Veazey, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. C. W. Williams, Mrs. Jennie Smith, Miss Keller, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Petty, Miss Willie May Porter.

Mrs. Harlan McBroom of Sedalia, Mo., is a guest in the home of her uncle, Mr. C. B. Braun and Mrs. Braun.

One of the most energetic and certainly one of the busiest club women in the city these days is Mrs. Paul T. Wright who is serving as state chairman of press and publicity for the Louisiana Federated Women's Clubs. The job, an important one, will be well done as Mrs. Wright is one of those rare, conscientious women who takes her work seriously and is thoroughly dependable. She is mentally alert, tireless, and quite capable of taking care of the big task confronting her.

She calls attention at this time to the resumption of activities of Federated Women's Clubs throughout the state. Although the clubs were officially disbanded for the summer months, the members were busily engaged in war work and planning for the year ahead as it promises to be one of the most important in the history of the Federated Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Wright states that Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, has spent the summer months planning a beneficial and interesting program for the state clubs to conform with the scope of work outlined by the General Federation.

Mrs. Tisdale also compiled a year book for 1944-45, which contains much useful and valuable information for all club members. This year book is dedicated to the late Mrs. John Shuttleworth of Shreveport, La., who was honorary president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs.

Messages from the General Federation's president, Mrs. LeFall Dickinson, and state president, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, will be found in the book. The general, state, and district officers, standing and special committee chair-

Sgt. Masling Marries WAC Sergeant in Italy

Proof that an office romance will blossom just as well overseas as back in the old home town was the recent wedding of WAC S/Sgt. Margaret Elizabeth Brown of Columbia, S. C., and M/Sgt. Frank Masling of Monroe, who are stationed with the Twelfth Air Force headquarters in Italy. Chaplain E. M. Pennell Jr. read the marriage ceremony in the headquarters chapel at 7:00 a. m., Thursday, August 24, 1944.

Sergeant Brown's matron of honor was her commanding officer, Capt. Verna A. McCluskey, of Colonial Hills, Mountain Brook, Birmingham, Ala., and Sergeant Masling had as his best man Sgt. Charles F. Saad, of Bridgeport, Conn. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Lt. Col. Jack T. Donovan, of Newport, R. I., now stationed with the headquarters of the Fifth air force, also in Italy. Guests at the wedding and the breakfast which followed, which was held at the WAC barracks were WAC 1st Lt. Mary V. Crook, of Minneapolis, Minn.; Col. W. F. Cook, Shepherd, Mich.; and Lt. Col. A. D. Doak, Shelbyville, Ky., and Maj. John Clendenning Jr., Tommy, River, N. J. Sergeant Masling's commanding officer, immediately after the wedding breakfast, the bride and groom left for Rome where they were to have a week's honeymoon.

On Wednesday evening, August 23, the young couple was given a gay send-off at a reception and dance in the club rooms of the headquarters non-commissioned officers' club, of which the bride and groom are members. The party was attended by the club members and the Twelfth Air Force WACs, to which platoon she is assigned. A visitor was a world's heavyweight champion, Joe Louis, who happened to be in the vicinity entertaining troops.

The young couple met in January, 1944, when Sergeant Brown was assigned to the Twelfth Air Force medical section, of which Colonel Cook is the head. She is a real WAC veteran, since she began her basic training in the WAAC at Dayton Beach, Fla., on January 14, 1942, after which she was assigned to an office in that training center. Sergeant Masling enlisted on December 8, 1939, and attended the enlisted men's course at the school of aviation medicine, Randolph Field, Texas. He began overseas duty with the headquarters of the Eighth Air Force bomber command in May, 1942, and upon activation of the Twelfth Air Force was assigned to the medical section. He plans to remain in the army after the war, doing the same work in the medical department.

Sergeant Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Brown, Columbus, S. C.

Miss Pat Simmons has just returned to Monroe after two weeks spent with relatives and friends in Atlanta and Savannah, Ga.

NEW FRATERNITY SPONSORS

Miss Julia Wilson, Miss Angelyn Swift and Miss Miriam Oliver, three lovely members of the younger set, claimed the spotlight of attention at the Sigma Phi Omega "Farewell to Summer" dance when they were introduced as the new sponsors for the coming year. Miss Wilson is the president of Beta Delta sorority.

Legislation Concerning Women

Active support of a proposed bill to enable women to serve on juries in Louisiana without being required to register has been withdrawn by the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and the measure moved to a study program, in action taken by the executive board of that organization in Alexandria, Sunday, at which Mrs. T. L. Witter, state president, presided.

The removal of their support of this bill was the direct result of information secured by polling the women of the state for their opinion in the matter.

"We feel that women as a whole do not want to serve on juries," Mrs. Marguerite Acosta of Baton Rouge, retiring legislation chairman said in presenting the proposal to the group.

Mrs. Eunice Stuckey of Ruston pointed out other more vital legislation which affects a larger part of society and which, she said, the Business and Professional Women should give their active support.

"Until all women are educated to vote intelligently and exercise that privilege we should concentrate on a legislation program which will broaden the scope of the woman voter," was the opinion of Dr. Grace Agate, president of the Lafayette club.

The motion to have the jury service bill removed from the list of active support program at that study program was introduced by Mrs. Grace Fenn of Alexandria newly appointed state legislation chairman. In presenting her plans for the coming club year, Mrs. Fenn encouraged all club women to use this year of study as a means of acquainting themselves with laws and pending legislation which affects their personal lives as well as that of society in general. She said, "Only through personal study and experiences can we, as women, become aware of existing legislation which might so easily become a burden."

Members from the Monroe club who are serving on the state executive board of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs are: Mrs. Laura Slater and Mrs. Gladys Miles. Miss Harriet Hirsch local legislation chairman, and Mrs. Evelyn Atkinson also attended the meeting of the executive board in Alexandria.

College Exodus Has Commenced

Ranks Of The Younger Social Set Are Depleted With Many Departures

Never before in the history of this nation has a college education seemed as necessary as now. College presidents who once tried to persuade schoolgirls that college was necessary are now confronted with the task of placating the young women for whom they have no room in the overcrowded classrooms. There is a larger application list than ever before. Young girls fully realize that the trained women will be called upon to do the important work of rebuilding in the post-war years. They know that women college graduates have had the advantage of being sought out for all the responsible posts of leadership during the past few years.

The exodus started last week and will continue until the last of September when all colleges and universities will be entering upon the year's work. Monroe girls who attend the University of Texas are already hard at work. Those who left last week were Satchie Naiden, Sandy Rowe, Frances Baldwin, Charlotte Padgett and Martha Clayton Kilpatrick.

There will be a large representation of Monroe girls at Sophie Newcomb College, New Orleans, this year. They are: Clarice and Lee Slagle, Vivian and Joy Harper, Betty Fimberg, Louise Tisdale, Mary Alice Jackson, Sally Foster, Jane Rhymes, Barbara Faulk, Mary Stuart Kellogg. Leaving for Breneau College, Georgia, will be Adrienne Gaston, Evelyn Middleton, Jean Carroll, Betty Hale and Sue Griffin.

Mary Alice Mickel will specialize in music at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and Gail Stewart will attend Agnes Scott.

Two "prep" students, Charlotte Naiden and Ann Brown will enter the Ward-Belmont Preparatory School in Nashville, Tenn. Mary Edith Breard and Heloise Rimes will resume their studies at Our Lady of the Lake at San Antonio, Texas.

A pre-med major at Loyola University, New Orleans, is Sue Spatafora. Marguerite Colvert will specialize in art and interior decorating at Whitworth College, Mississippi. Pauline Breard, a junior at Randolph Macon College is already en route to Virginia and will be there to greet Jessie Lee Touchstone, Cornelia McHenry, Lucille Moseley and Nan Drew when they arrive next week.

Kay Kugler took advanced work at the University of North Carolina this summer so she will have a prolonged vacation, not returning until early in November. Other students at the University of North Carolina are Elizabeth Johnson, Barbara Schuster and Margaret Martin.

It is almost impossible to get a complete list of girls who will attend the Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge, however, those who have come to our notice are: Margaret Ols Eaves, Margaret Ann Harper, Bennie Hughes, Jean McCormick.

Carol Layton will resume her studies at All Saints College, Vicksburg, Miss., where she is attending "prep" school. Arabella Bancroft will enter the Hackaday School for girls at Dallas, Texas.

Catherine Winter left last week for St. Louis, Mo., to enter the Principia College Preparatory School.

Women In War Work

Attention all patriotic women of the Twin Cities. An emergency exists in the local Red Cross Surgical Dressing department where the work is piling up and the volunteers are few. More women are needed now—not tomorrow or some distant day—but this very minute. If the government quota of 2,000,000 surgical dressings isn't completed before the deadline, November 30, a blemish will rest forever more on the name of this city. Mrs. J. P. Brown, general chairman of the surgical dressing unit, speaks in no uncertain terms of the urgent need for volunteer workers at this time. Due to the work to be accomplished before the deadline three extra days have been set aside for surgical dressing work. Days set aside include Monday, September 11, between the hours of 1 and 9 a. m. On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the hours will be 1 to 5 p. m.

A few hard workers are carrying on as usual and making super-human efforts but they are still unable to accomplish the task that is to be done. If the work stops now, terrible things can happen—perhaps as a result a battle may be lost ... soldiers may die for lack of surgical dressings. ... Are the women of the Twin Cities going to sit idly by while the government sends out an appeal for more surgical dressings?

At 8 o'clock Thursday evening, August 31, 1944, Miss Ann P. Syrek, daughter of Mrs. Anne Marie Syrek of Washington, Pa., became the bride of Capt. Louie Daniel. The wedding was solemnized in the South Chapel, Selman Field, with Major Mullan officiating.

Study Being Made Of American Homes

Federated Club Women Will Make A Study Of Needs
Of The American Home

The Federated Women's Clubs are taking a definite step in preparing for the future, by making a systematic study of the needs of the American home—religious, political, and educational needs and their relation to other nations.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, president of the Louisiana Federation, would like to call the attention of all club women to the objectives and procedures of the departments of American Citizenship, American Home, and Education as outlined by the general department chairmen, Mrs. M. Y. Newcomb, Mrs. Herbert F. French, and Mrs. Stewart Scrimshaw.

Mrs. M. Y. Newcomb, chairman of the Department of American Citizenship, reported the following aim: Every home a Basic Training Center. Good Citizenship, will be the central idea around which the program of our department will be built. Every American Woman a Voter, will be another aim. Every Voter an Informed Voter, a culmination to be desired. Every American Mother a Citizenship Teacher, a logical conclusion. Every Home a Citizenship Forum. We will also include a study of the Primary System, now under vigorous discussion, and the Short Ballot, of interest to many states. We believe forums on political science to be of inestimable value, either local or state-wide; other topics will include a study of United States History and functions of government."

Mrs. Herbert F. French, chairman of the Department of American Home, submitted this report: "In planning a program for the American Home department, we accept the challenge of our president, Mrs. Dickinson, to make the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the American Home one and indivisible. Where shall we begin? First, in our own homes, and secondly, through the lives in our own communities. How shall we begin? By making the home the center of family life where prayer, righteousness, and fundamental principles above indulgences and excesses, will wholly commit themselves to the task of bringing up a generation of children who shall be conscious of their relationship to God and humanity. It is our plan to create divisions as follows: Division of Homemaking; Division of Youth Guidance; Division of Finance and Insurance. In the division of Homemaking, we shall stress family relationships, homes and houses, home management and religion. The division of Youth Guidance will cooperate with the Children's Bureau following its program for enlarged health programs and recreational facilities for underprivileged children. The division of Finance and Insurance will present an educational program to plan for the future welfare of the family through budgeting and insurance. When we think of Democracy we think of the American Home, for it is the foundation stone of our American homes so that the structure—Democracy—may endure."

Mrs. Stewart Scrimshaw, chairman of the Department of Education, gives the keynote and procedure of this department in the following outline: "We must not lose through the excuse of war emergency any of the present desirable educational facilities, and in addition, we must make sure that our educational programs meet the needs of this present changing world and the post-war period. This will include special emphasis upon character education and religious education. Fortify the home—it will be the endeavor of this department to fortify the home by our programs of education. One of the objectives of this department will be education for the more abundant life. Adequate education for all is the second objective of this department. Special consideration will be given to elementary, secondary and adult education. Education for service men receive major attention. Procedure—as we begin our plans for this effectively if we follow this procedure: (1) Know the facts about your state, the United States, and as far as possible, the world situation; (2) face the facts, and (3) use the facts. What is the situation in your state concerning teachers' salaries? Are you paying enough to attract qualified teachers? How are clubwomen cooperating in solving teacher shortage? What is the status of nursery schools and kindergartens? What is the attitude of your state toward religious instruction in schools? How many of your colleges have the accelerated programs of education? Do your colleges plan for prompt conversion to normal two-semester plan? How do your schools promote character education? Have you studied the Federation's resolution on character education? Make your plans as early as possible for National Education Week (November 5th to 11th)."

Mrs. S. R. Wright is now established in her home at 316 Grammont street.

REVOLT AGAINST P. G. A. AT MIAMI

$10,000 Open To Be Held In December Despite West Coast Conflict

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 9.—(P)—Tournament Director H. H. Arnold defied the Professional Golfers Association today with an announcement that the municipally-sponsored $10,000 Miami Open will be played Dec. 7-10 despite a conflict with a P. G. A.-approved Pacific Coast schedule.

Reminding of "lean years" when others failed the touring pros, Arnold told Fred J. Corcoran, manager of the P. G. A. tournament bureau, that absence of big name players will not cause cancellation of the Miami event. The Open here has been played without interruption for 20 years.

Corcoran had informed Arnold that the schedule on the Pacific Coast would not permit the leading professionals to play here in December without travel hardships, and suggested that the tournament be held in late November, late March or April.

"I do not seek any squabble with the P. G. A.," declared Arnold, "but it is our money, we should be able to spend it as we see fit, we know when the tournament is best for us and I know that the P. G. A. or Mr. Corcoran did not counsel us or even ask an opinion before scheduling the P. G. A. tour." "His offer of either a November or April date for here is beyond question."

In his letter, Arnold told Corcoran: "I am frank in stating it does not test my memory too hard to remember a few years ago or before the lush war days when you all begged me to stage the Miami Open, even to the point that it associates personally bankrupted it one year, the first year for $10,000, as then the P. G. A. touring pros and you needed action."

"Well, the war will not last forever and such days undoubtedly will come again."

"If Byron Nelson and Harold McSpaden as current money winning leaders are so involved or of the mind to follow the schedule and ignore us there is nothing that can be done about that now."

"A majority of the boys at the Chicago tournament assured me they could not afford to travel to the Pacific Coast and would be at the Miami Open. Even if we miss the 'Gold Dust Twins,' possibly it is just as well for golf because it will give the majority of pros a good competition."

TRAVELERS PLAY TWIN BILL TODAY

The Monroe Travelers, local semi-pro baseball club with a record of seven victories against one defeat, will be engaged in a double header here this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Casino Park, meeting the Olla White Sox in one game, and the Good Pine Red Sox in the other.

The Travelers will use either Bernie Van or John Inzina in the opener. Both boys have shown vast improvement during the past two weeks. Drew Takewell will also be available in the event Inzina or Van get into trouble.

The probable lineup for the locals in the first game was announced by Manager Ray Spicer as follows: Mitchell, left field; Bowles, center field; Nick Inzina or McClain, right field; Kroll, first base; Spicer, third base; A. Canal, shortstop; Bass, second base; S. Canal, catcher; and J. Inzina or Van, pitcher.

Spicer said there would be a small admission fee to be used to pay for their baseball equipment.

The club was formerly known as Kallio's Travelers, but it was announced to be known in the future as the Monroe Travelers.

JOHNNY CONWAY NAMED ON ALL-STAR BALL CLUB

CAMP MAXEY, Tex., Sept. 9.—(Special)—Pvt. John Conway, who formerly lived at 400 Auburn avenue, Monroe, La., has been selected as the second baseman on the 9th infantry division All-Star baseball team at Camp Maxey.

Conway, a rifleman with an infantry unit now in Camp Maxey, won his nomination to the All-Star lineup through his flashy fielding around the keystone sack and his better-than-400 average at the plate, which sparked his team to second place in the Division League.

No newcomer to the game, Conway saw eight years of service in professional ball, playing with the Monroe White Sox of the Cotton States League, Cincinnati Reds, and Birmingham in the Southern Association.

PASSING FANCY

OUACHITA TO OPEN FOOTBALL SEASON HERE AGAINST HOMER

Lions Prepare For First Night
Game In Two Years
Next Friday

The Ouachita Parish High School football team opens its 1934 season Friday night at 8:15 o'clock in Northeast Junior College stadium against the Homer High School Pelicans, runners-up for the state Class A championship last year.

The Lions and Pelicans have been meeting regularly on the gridiron for the past five years, and the Claiborne parish boys have come out on top each year except 1942 when the Lions romped to a 38-7 victory while using revenge with a 32-2 triumph. In all previous games the score was never more than 13 points in difference.

At this stage of the season it will be hard to guess which team will hold the upper hand Friday night, but from past experiences it seems the Pelicans have had a jinx on the Lions. All in all it should be a bang-up game from start to finish as both teams have been working hard and should be in readiness for the opener.

In the last two days' work the Lions' defense has looked much better with some hard tackling that made the blocking look weak at times, but enough good blocking was shown at times to insure several long gains during scrimmage.

The line blocking of Tom Miller and Carlton Potter, guards, has looked especially good. At the tackles Sam Brothers and Bernard Duchesne have looked all right on their blocks, but they still need more polish to make the kind of tackles Ouachita will need. J. E. Tripp has been showing more hustle and it looks like he will be the best of the ends, with the other terminal being left to be decided by how good Marvin Moon, Ned Newman, and Thomas Moncrief develop.

At center Billy Hargiss is being pushed plenty hard by James Smith. Jack Trichel, James Cain, Ray Lebo, Dan Wilensky, Gene Roswell, and C. L. Wink are other boys being given serious consideration for starting jobs in the line.

Coach George Riser comes up with a fair backfield that boasts Miller Frey, who can do some passing, running, and is the team's best kicker, but who is being used mostly as a blocker in the quarterback position. Frey is practically sure of a starting assignment. Other likely starters will be chosen from Jack Brittain, Perry Bedgood, Flem McMillan, Fay Duchesne, G. W. Rachell, Maurice Rawls, Billy Sanford, and Cornelius Wagnon. In addition to these boys other backs who may see some action are Johnnie King, Jack Faundus, and James Trichel.

SCHOOLBOY ROWE HITS .446 FOR GREAT LAKES

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Sept. 9.—(P)—The Great Lakes baseball team, winner of 48 out of 50 games, carried a punch from top to bottom.

Season records disclosed today that the poorest hitter of the regulars was Gene Woodling—his batting average was .342. Whitey Platt was the fence buster with a robust .428, although Schoolboy Rowe, who pitched and played the outfield and was at bat only 83 times, topped him with .446.

Other regulars' averages: Merrill May, .376; Billy Herman, .376; Al Glosop, .367; Johnny McCarthy, .366, and Dick West, .361.

Cheyenne, Wyo., is credited with more home runs than any other city in the United States.

ADDED WEAPON

Dean Sensenbaurer, phenomenal Ohio State freshman of last season, joins remarkable group of Army backs.

NEUHOUSER AND TROUT DETROIT TIGERS' ONLY DEPENDABLE TWIRLERS

DETROIT, Sept. 9.—(P)—When Detroit had to call on three pitchers to turn back the Cleveland Indians, today, it was the same old story. The Tigers have only two hurlers who can go the distance consistently and they will have to depend heavily upon them in the home stretch race for the American League title.

Hal Newhouse and Dirty Trout, winners of 22 and 24 games respectively, are the only Detroit hurlers with a winning percentage for the season.

Stubby Overmire, who started today in search of his sixth straight win and knocked out in the third inning, failed to go the distance twice while grabbing five in a row.

Johnny Gorsica, who relieved Overmire and also was batted out, has been credited with only one triumph, that a relief job, since June 2. During the stretch he had to be relieved 21 times.

Rufe Gentry, credited with the decision today, has a season record of only nine wins against 13 defeats. After Gorsica, who had won six and lost 13, none of the four remaining Tiger relief pitchers has broken into the victory column this season.

MEHRE PROMISES 'FAIR' GRID TEAM

Ole Miss Has Only 13 Of 38
Candidates Over 17
Years Of Age

By Skipper Patrick
UNIVERSITY, Miss., Sept. 9.—(P)—Coach Harry Mehre is taking the "makings of a fair football team" and plans to make some pretty "fair trouble" for the University of Mississippi foes this fall.

The talent is young—only 13 of the 38-man squad are over 17—but on paper the all-villain Rebels compare favorably with other non-service wartime squads in this section.

Joel Herry has deserted the ole "hup, hup" Notre Dame system in favor of the fashionable "T" because he figures his kids can get "quicker results" that way. He says the "T" is much more simple to execute than the Notre Dame shift, too.

Only veteran on the Rebel squad is End Bob McCain of Greenville, Miss., who played guard as a freshman in 1942 before the state board of college trustees gave intercollegiate athletics to boot. Mehre rates McCain as an outstanding end and a fine leader for the younger boys.

The Rebel offensive will boast speed and power in such high school products as "Jarrin" Jerry Tibbler, Jackson's All-Big-Eight fullback last year, Clyde Hooker, triple-threat from Memphis, Tenn.; Red Timmons, speedy lad from Corinth; John Bruce, West Point; John Quinn, Greenwood, and several others.

Tibbler and Hooker assure the Rebels of more than adequate full-backing.

The tackles are likely to be manned in the opening game against Kentucky in Lexington on Sept. 23 by James "Cupid" Clark, 230, Belzoni, on one side and either Oscar Buchanan or Truett Day, a couple of 210-pounders from Memphis, on the other.

Mehre lists his most promising guards as Blackwell, 180, Perkinson Junior College, and Butler 180, of Pontotoc. Durette, 172, a North Carolina boy, is another promising guard.

Darrell Brents, 180, Memphis, has complete possession of center and Mehre thinks he may develop into a real star.

With McCain in command at one end, the Rebels have good terminal talent for the other extremity in Johnson, 170, West Point, and Jack Brewer, 170, Clayton.

Mehre has an impressive record in both conference and interconference play to show for his years at Ole Miss, and rival coaches are not selling him short this fall.

"What we lack most is experience, but I think we'll do all right this fall," Mehre said. "They are very eager, fairly big and have speed. They'll take care of themselves against other teams with the same sort of material."

After the Kentucky game, the Rebels take on Florida at Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 30; Tennessee at Memphis, Oct. 7; Tulsa at Memphis, Oct. 21; Arkansas at Memphis, Oct. 28; Alabama at Mobile, Nov. 11 and Mississippi State at Oxford, Nov. 25.

NELSON IN FRONT BY FOUR STROKES

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 9.—(P)—Byron Nelson hurried along with his third sub-par round of the Texas Victory Open today and it was enough to keep him out in front at 54 holes but closing in was the guy with a chest like a blacksmith and golf drives to match—burly Harold (Jug) McSpaden.

McSpaden, laid down a three-under-par 68 to move within four strokes for the fast-moving Toledo star and they will march out tomorrow for the final 18 holes with their score cards reading like this:

Nelson 138-70-208.

McSpaden 144-68-212.

There was no other player even fairly close to Lord Byron.

Struggling down in third place were Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, and Wes Ben Hogan of Fort Worth army air field, each with 217.

MAY GET RAISE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(P)—Coach Earle "Greasy" Neale of the Philadelphia Eagles professional football team cut his own salary from $12,000 to $3,000 in 1942 because he couldn't produce a better team "with the material on hand," General Manager Harry Thayer said. "However," said Thayer, "we believe that this year's Eagles will be the finest team ever to represent Philadelphia."

361 ENROLL AT JUNIOR COLLEGE

Increase Of 45 Shown Over Civilian Students For Last Fall

Enrollment for the fall quarter at Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. reached a total of 361 yesterday afternoon, according to Miss Olive Lusk, registrar, and Dean C. C. Colvert said the present registration showed an increase of 45 over the enrollment of civilian students for the fall quarter last year.

All regular class work will begin tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock at the junior college.

Classes at the two Catholic schools, St. Matthew's of Monroe and St. Charles of West Monroe, will also begin tomorrow with sessions at Louisiana Training Institute.

Neville High School and Ouachita Parish High School, along with other city and parish schools, will begin classes September 18.

In addition to the regular academic work at Northeast Junior College, the institution is offering for the first time a schedule of distributive education which makes provisions for a combination of courses and practical work in local business firms.

Another supplement of the regular N. J. C. curriculum is vocational work which students may take at the Ouachita Valley Vocational School, a state institution. Such courses as aviation mechanics, automobile mechanics, radio and electrical work are included.

Housing facilities are offered men and women by providing living quarters in the student center building for women and on the second floor of the library building for men. Dormitory space for 60 women has already been filled, and there are 34 men living on the campus.

MOSCOW ASKS SPAIN TO REMOVE FRANCO

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(P)—The Moscow radio tonight renewed its appeal to the Spanish people to oust the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the Federal Communications Commission reported.

Saying that the "foreign press" continued to comment on intentions of widely-known Fascists to seek a haven "in the affectionate arms of Franco," the broadcast said the Nazis, "dreaming of their colony on the Mediterranean shores," already were packing to join the 300,000 Germans it said already were living in Spain.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(P)—The stock market resumed Saturday sessions today, after three successive week-end holidays, but, so far as business and important price movements were concerned, it might as well have continued the half-day closings.

The few customers who showed up inclined to shave their already trimmed commitments or look askance at the idling ticker tape. Leading issues were irregularly lower. Turnover was around 250,000 shares.

American Telephone was one of the few pivots to dip more than a point, widest stumble for this bellwether in some time.

Bonds were narrow and commodities mixed.

L. S. U. ALUMNI TO HEAR HATCHER

Graduates And Former Students Will Honor New President

Louisiana State University's graduates and former students from throughout northeast Louisiana will gather here next Friday night to honor Dr. W. B. Hatcher, recently appointed head of the state university. The gathering will be held at the Monroe Recreation Center, 1700 South Grand street, under the auspices of the Ouachita chapter of the L. S. U. Alumni Association and with the cooperation of alumni units from surrounding parishes.

Dr. Hatcher will be on hand, and it is likely that Gov. James H. Davis, himself an L. S. U. alumnus, will be present. Governor Davis has already informed the committee in charge of arrangements that he already has the meeting on his schedule and will be present if official duties do not interfere.

Reservations are still being accepted with graduates being permitted to bring their wives or husbands who may not be L. S. U. alumni. The meeting is not restricted to graduates alone, it having been pointed out that any persons who have attended L. S. U. may make reservations for the buffet supper.

A committee was named during the week to call on former L. S. U. students to inform them of the meeting, and it was announced last night by B. S. Hamner, chairman of the Ouachita chapter, that reservations could be made with any of that committee as well as with himself. In addition to Professor Hamner, those with whom reservations may be made are Wood Thompson, Francis Barringer, Ronald Lee Davis, Miss Julia Wootman, Mrs. Aimee Cook, Judge S. L. Digby, Mrs. Mary Peavy, Mrs. Allen T. Givens, D. Aubrey Haas, B. B. Handy, E. T. Lamkin, Miss Frances Michie, Reginald Seiler, Mrs. Maggie Smith, Miss Patsy Slack, Lewis Slater, Mrs. Lea Thompson, Mrs. S. W. Williams, Dr. Irving Wolfe, Miss Katherine Mickel and O. K. Bailey.

A musical program has been arranged in connection with the meeting. Miss Betty Rinehart will sing "I'll See You Again," "Summer Time," and "Indian Love Call," with the accompaniment of Miss Ann Mallett at the piano. Miss Mallett will also render several piano solos.

WACS STUDYING FRENCH TONGUE

Were Students Of Language Before Invasion Day Occurred

Members of the women's army corps who are serving in France with the invasion troops were given special training in England to prepare them for duty in Normandy.

Three of the picked group of WACS, on their own initiative, studied the French language so that they could converse with the French people when they took up their new assignment at a headquarters behind the battle-lines.

The trio, Pfc. Lucille Collins of 829 Silby avenue, St. Paul, Minn.; Goldie Johnson of 720 Second street, Louisville, Ky., and Mollie Weinstein of 2554 West Euclid avenue, Detroit, Mich., taught themselves the French language with the aid of an instruction book.

When the WACS landed in France they were field grad, including a new model trousseau uniform, helmet, leggings and field shoes.

WACS now fill 239 different types of important army assignments throughout the United States and at many overseas bases. They work in communications, in the control tower of airfields, in weather stations, in supply rooms, and motor pools, as well as in many other vital positions.

In addition to France and England, WACS now perform army jobs in Australia, Hawaii, Italy, and other countries.

Women between 20 and 50 years of age can secure full information about the qualifications for enlistment in the women's army corps by visiting the WAC recruiting station room 307 Post Office Building, Monroe, La.

SMITH REMOVED FOR DIFFERING VIEWS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A disagreement over campaign methods was reported tonight to have precipitated the decision by Marine Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, commanding all American forces on Saipan, to relieve Army Maj. Gen. Ralph Smith of his command.

The marine general, in response to questions said at a news conference today that he had been "forced" to relieve Gen. Ralph Smith from command of army forces in the Saipan operation, but declined to relate the circumstances.

"I am not passing the buck," he said, "but as you seek details concerning this incident, I remind you that General Smith is an army officer and I must refer you to the War Department."

The War Department promptly tossed back to the marine the question of whether any public explanation was to be made. A spokesman said:

"Gen. Holland Smith was correct in stating that it was his responsibility and prerogative, operating under the principle of unity of command, to make whatever assignment he believed necessary in regard to his subordinates."

"Since the decision of the change in command was properly his, the reasons for that change should be properly given by him."

There the matter stood officially, but the account circulating in military circles was this:

The two generals disagreed on methods of conducting the campaign. The marine favored quick hard drives to end it as promptly as possible. The army man advocated a slow, more cautious campaign.

TROOPS OCCUPY

and Ukraine Army units moving toward the plains of Hungary advanced 24 miles in 24 hours from Sibiu in Transylvania, taking the rail city of Alba Julia, only 108 miles from the pre-war Hungarian frontier.

To the northeast the Russians seized 100 villages and towns as they battered down the German-Hungarian defenses along the eastern rim of the Carpathian mountains. Among the places taken was Targu-Secuse, 17 miles inside Hungarian-held Transylvania, and 34 miles northeast of Brasov.

Moscow still had not mentioned the Yugoslav frontier area which the Russians reached at Turnu-Severin in Western Rumania last Wednesday. Other reports since then have said the Russians however were across the border and had established contact with Marshal Tito's partisans, with Allied land and air units, are aiding in the encirclement of Hitler's Balkan troops.

The Russian government concerning Bulgaria said that "the Soviet government together with the governments of Great Britain and the United States is now working out conditions of an armistice with Bulgaria."

Russia declared war on Bulgaria Tuesday, and sent her troops into that country only Friday. In addition to Eurgas, the town of Razgrad, 24 miles southeast of the Danube port of Ruse, occupied on the first day, it was seized yesterday, as well as Shumen, 50 miles west of Varna.

The communiques said 21,000 Bulgarian officers and men were taken in two days of operations against Bulgaria, and also more than 4,000 Germans.

Berlin said the new drive in Poland toward Krakow was strongly supported by tanks and artillery and admitted Russian breaches.

PEOPLE IN BELGIUM ACCLAIM AMERICANS

LIEGE, Belgium, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Twenty-four hours after their liberation the people of this industrial city on the banks of the Meuse river still were wildly acclaiming the Americans today as infantry and armored columns passed through and closed in on the Siegfried line.

Along the Boulevard Freres Orban, and in the Place St. Lambert in the heart of Liege thousands of people stood and cheered the troops. Every time a vehicle stopped, girls rushed to it and kissed the occupants.

Grimacing, embarrassed Doughboys and tankmen in battle-stained uniforms were having a fine time, and so was the city of Liege.

The flags of Belgium, France, Britain and the United States fluttered from every building. Apparently the Belgians had not expected the Americans, for flags of Britain and France predominated, but some star-spangled banners were hastily manufactured, and one enterprising business man even tured out some printed paper flags for street sales.

The Germans wrecked most of the main bridges across the Meuse. American engineers quickly threw pontoon bridges across the wide stream, the advance continued with little delay.

The sun shone brightly today and the townspeople all wore their colorful clothes to hail the victorious troops of the First army. They lit the Meuse banks and stood on the dynamited ruins of the bridges, cheering the Americans crossing on pontoon bridges in a parade of tanks, trucks and jeeps.

Everyone agrees that this Belgian welcome is even more enthusiastic and heart-warming than the ovation the troops received in France.

MRS. MARGIE SCOTT

The funeral of Mrs. Margie McGowan Scott, 26, who was fatally injured in an auto accident near Wills Point, Tex., last Sunday, and who died Friday in Alexandria Hospital, Terre Haute, Ind., will be held at the Davis-Lawhead Funeral Home, Sunday at 2 p. m. The Rev. A. M. Serex, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in Riverside Burial Park.

Mrs. Scott, wife of Ens. Vernon W. Scott who is "somewhere overseas" with the navy, had been employed with the civilian personnel department at Selman Field and was on her way to Fort Worth, Tex., for three weeks' special training for her work at the field here when the accident occurred, it was said.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McGowan, Monroe, the young woman was a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, class of 1933, and a graduate of Northeast Junior College, class of 1937.

Mrs. Scott is survived by her husband; her parents; a two-year-old daughter, Sharon Scott; three brothers, T/Sgt. Hilborn McGowan with the army in France; Capt. Foster R. McGowan with the army at Spokane, Wash., and S 2/c Quinon McGowan with the navy in the Pacific; and three sisters, Mrs. B. B. McDonald and Mrs. V. L. Clements, both of Monroe, and Mrs. Pauline Tharpe, Bastrop.

NEAL W. JENKINS

Neal W. Jenkins, about 71, West Monroe, died suddenly early last night shortly after suffering a heart attack in a West Monroe grocery.

Mr. Jenkins, said to have suffered the attack at Henry's store, had a taxi cab summoned, and a Hall Funeral Home ambulance met the taxi and rushed the man on to a local hospital but he was said to have died almost on his arrival at the sanitarium.

Funeral arrangements had not been made last night. His only known survivor was said to be a sister at Columbia and efforts were being made to reach her last night. The body was taken to Hall's Funeral Home.

an issue which has split the party.

At Austin, the governor declared that if he had to he would address the convention appealing to warring factions to get together.

He emphasized the qualification, "If I have to."

Butler arrived in Dallas to make preliminary plans for the meet which will compose party differences on electors or split Democrats further apart than they have been divided on the elector issue.

In its May convention the party named 23 electors not bound to support the party's national nominees unless the Chicago national convention met certain conditions. These conditions were rejected at Chicago and since the national convention anti- and pro-Roosevelt factions have sparred for control of the September 12 convention.

The governor proposed that the next convention name two sets of electors, one pro-Roosevelt and one anti-Roosevelt, to be listed in the Democratic column on the general election ballot and let the people decide the issue.

After making his proposal Stevenson visited President Roosevelt and announced upon his return to Texas that if any pro-Roosevelt supporters
